Adult Amateurs Start Orchestra

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of three articles on public school music programs.

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Were you "just pretty darn good" on that carefully preserved trumpet or trombone catching dust in the attic?

Or were you a "good enough performer for the high school band" but one who should have practiced a little bit more?

Are you looking for an excuse — or opportunity — to renovate your old horn or fiddle and revive latent musical interest?

Fulfilling the demand of many amateur and leisure — time musicians in Lincoln, including a retired golfer, the Lincoln Public Schools Community College is creating a "civic orchestra" for adults.

Enjoyment

This Capitol City first, "open to any adult over 18 whether he can play or not, is strictly for enjoyment," announced Eugene Stoll, coordinator of instrumental music.

This is an "excellent opportunity" for anyone who has played anytime in his life to participate in a musical orchestra, he declared.

No audition will be required, Stoll said.

"We're interested in whether a person wants to play — not whether he can or not."

The 14-week band-orchestra is slated to start Oct. 4, meeting on Tuesdays, 7-9 p.m. The fee is $15 for the entire program. The adult division is taking registrations at the Public Schools Administration Building, telephone: 475-1081.

Kenneth Frieze, band director at Charles Culler Junior High School, will direct the adult musicians.

"If we get any strings, then we will have an orchestra," Stoll explained.

Concert Possible

The schools will furnish music and large instruments such as tuba, bass, and percussion. All kinds of music is expected to be presented, Stoll said.

"We hope we can put on a concert at the end of the semester as a culmination of the orchestral work," he added.

As many as 50-100 musicians could be handled in the group.

"We have had numerous inquiries from adults who want to get their instruments out and play but have no outlet as a non-professional," the instrumental coordinator explained.

In some cities an amateur adult musical group is called a "senile symphony" and when the players get too good, they are ousted, according to Stoll.

However, he emphasized, the Lincoln orchestral effort has neither idea in mind. All ages and ranges of talent will be needed, Stoll declared.

Sorensen Gets Texan's Praise

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha — Gov. John Connally of Texas said Tuesday night that Nebraskans have "a great opportunity to continue the magnificent leadership" of the Morrison administration if they will select Lt.-Governor Philip Sorensen to succeed the governor.

Sorensen has "the stability, the character and the strength to make you an excellent governor," Connally told three hundred contributors at a one hundred-dollar-a-plate dinner.

Sorensen has "great capacity and courage," the Texan said, and those are the qualities of leadership.

He had the courage during the 1965 legislative session to "advocate a path which I am sure is unpopular in many quarters," Connally noted.

"But if you want a man you can always agree with, you generally will find a man who will do nothing."

And, he suggested, "we have to ante up if we want to have the authority in our state capitals," rather than allowing the federal government to fill a vacuum of leadership in local and state government.

Centralization of power in Washington has grown because local and state governments have been "unresponsive to the needs," the governor said.

In Nebraska, during the past six years, the Morrison administration has provided leadership and Nebraska has "faced up to the many problems that confront this state," Connally said.

Sorensen, he declared, will continue that leadership.

Sorensen responded briefly, noting that "progress is wrought from controversy and complexity," not from consensus.

With the help of Nebraska voters, Sorensen said, he is "determined to move Nebraska forward."

Schumack Arrested, Charged In Robbery

CHARLES O. SCHUMACK

Charles O. Schumack was charged in Lancaster County Court Tuesday with three counts of armed robbery in connection with Friday's holdup at the Havelock National Bank.

The 24-year-old Vancouver, Wash., native, accompanied by his attorney, J. Arthur Curtiss, requested a preliminary hearing before Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum.

Judge Slocum set 2 p.m. Oct. 11 for hearing and set bond at $20,000.

Dressed in dark corduroy pants and a sport shirt, Shumack appeared calm as he answered in the affirmative when Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas asked the defendant if he understood what he was charged with.

Schumack was specifically charged with taking money by force from Judy Bauer, Berneta Portman and Marilyn Higgs — the three bank tellers to whom he allegedly tossed a paper sack Friday and requested they fill it up with "big stuff."

Early Wednesday Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll announced that Carol Jane Hibbs, 22, believed to have been the woman with the robber during the bank holdup, had been arrested in Ames, Iowa, on orders of the Lincoln police department.

Chief Carroll said Miss Hibbs, who was lodged in the Ames city jail, is expected to waive extradition. A pair of Lincoln police officers armed with a warrant will go to Ames Wednesday to pick up Miss Hibbs.

Douglas said he expects to file charges against the woman here Wednesday.

Schumack was arrested shortly after 11 a.m. Tuesday when Inspector E. R. Henninger found him wandering around in the upstairs portion of police headquarters.

According to police, Schumack had returned to Lincoln from Omaha by bus just prior to going to the police station.

Henninger said when he first saw Schumack, who was carrying a suitcase and had his back to him, he asked. "What can we help you with?"

"I'm looking for the detective bureau," the man told Henninger.

"Well, you're in the right church but the wrong pew," Henninger said. "Why don't you follow me and I'll take you to the detective bureau."

When Schumack turned around to face Henninger, Henninger recognized him. The two men, Schumack and Henninger then started walking towards the detective bureau.

"You realize, of course, that you're under arrest, don't you, Chuck," Henninger told him.

Schumack stopped and said, "I didn't know you recognized me."

Henninger then informed Schumack of his constitutional rights and booked him into jail.

Douglas said Schumack made no statements about the bank robbery which reportedly netted $99. Douglas did say, however, that a .38 caliber service revolver taken from Lincoln policeman Gus Dittmann by the bank robber has been recovered.

Late Tuesday afternoon an FBI spokesman said a car answering the description of the one used by the robber in his getaway was recovered in Omaha on Hickory Street between 83rd and 84th.

Bombing Kills 28 Tribesmen By Mistake

Da Nang, Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Marine planes bombed a friendly village in South Viet Nam by mistake Tuesday, killed 28 mountain tribesmen and wounded 17, a Marine spokesman said Wednesday.

The bombing also destroyed about 100 houses in the village in Quang Ngai province some 350 miles north of Saigon.

The village was under control of the South Vietnamese government, the Marine spokesman said, and was outside the target area for the attack mission to which the two Marine planes were assigned.

Marine evacuation helicopters went to the village and evacuated the wounded to a government hospital in nearby Quang Ngai city..

JURY ACQUITS THOMAS

Rowe Is Not Called

. . . Jury Biracial

Hayneville, Ala. (AP)—A jury of eight Negroes and four white men Tuesday acquitted Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas of murder in the killing of a white civil rights worker.

The verdict came after the jury had deliberated 1 hour and 25 minutes.

Thomas, 43, of Bessemer, Ala., thus became the second of three members of the hooded organization to win an acquittal in state court in the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a Detroit, Mich., housewife shot to death March 25, 1965 following the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

Foreman White

The verdict was handed to the court by one of the four white jurors, Joe H. Guthrie, chosen by his fellow jurors as foreman.

It was the first biracial jury in four trials growing from the killing.

During its 40 minutes of testimony, the defense called only four witnesses and attempted to establish an alibi for Thomas.

The defense testimony put Thomas at a Veterans of Foreign Wars club at Brighton, a suburban community near Thomas' home, about the time Mrs. Liuzzo was slain.

State attorneys rested their case without calling an FBI undercover agent, Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., who had testified in three previous trials he was an eyewitness to the slaying.

Bullet Testimony

Instead, the prosecution, directed by Atty. Gen. Richard Flowers, relied chiefly on the testimony of FBI agents that the bullet which killed Mrs. Liuzzo was fired from a .38-caliber revolver identified as one owned by Thomas.

The state produced evidence also that Thomas was stopped for a muffler violation on the highway where the Detroit mother of five was slain and also the testimony of an FBI agent that Thomas admitted to him he was in the vicinity that night, March 25, 1965, and that he had his gun with him or knew where it was throughout the night.

There was no immediate explanation from Flowers for his unexpected decision to seek a first-degree murder conviction without Rowe's testimony.

From the FBI witnesses, the state produced evidence that:

—One .38-caliber bullet was recovered from Mrs. Liuzzo's body and another from inside her car.

—Firearms' examinations in the FBI laboratory in Washington showed that both bullets were fired from a gun found in a car owned by Thomas' wife and parked in front of his home the day after the killing.

—Thomas had in his possession when arrested a pistol permit for the same gun.

—The Klansman told an FBI agent he was in Selma and had driven between Montgomery and Selma the night of the slaying but that he knew nothing about the death.

The latter testimony came from FBI agent Lawrence Gettings.

Thomas was the second of three accused Klan members to go on trial in state court in the Liuzzo killing. Collie Leroy Wilkins was acquitted after his first trial ended with a deadlocked jury. William Orville Eaton died of a heart attack before he could be tried on a murder indictment.

However, all three defendants were convicted in federal court on conspiracy charges growing out of the slaying and have appealed 10-year prison sentences.

Brown Calls Out Guardsmen

San Francisco (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Tuesday night ordered 2,000 National Guards-help put down rioting in the Hunters Point area.

Police Chief Thomas Cahill asked for them when rioting broke out after a white patrolman shot and killed a Negro youth fleeing from a stolen car.

The guardsmen were assembling at armories in San Francisco, Richmond and San Jose.

Lt. Gen. Roderic Hill, adjutant general of the California Guard, was reported en route from Sacramento to San Francisco to direct operations.

The governor issued the order several minutes before midnight. He received the request from Cahill while attending a private dinner in San Diego.

Teenage Negroes thronged through the Hunters Point streets, setting fires, breaking windows, and throwing rocks at policemen.

The rioting was triggered a few hours earlier by the shooting.

Unrest spread to the Fillmore district on the northwest side of town and roving juveniles broke windows and engaged in looting. Police sealed off eight square blocks of the area.

Three policemen were hurt by flying rocks and bottles.

Two television camera cars were overturned and one was burned. Television cameraman Lance Brisson was knocked down and roughed up.

Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Roche said fire bombs and "other incendiary means" caused the blazes. He said onlookers threw rocks and sticks at the firemen. One fireman was hurt — not seriously — by flying glass from a broken windshield and a rock that cut his leg.

City officials declined to label it a riot, but they moved swiftly to control the situation.

Matthew Johnson, 16, was shot and killed by white patrolman Alvin Johnson Tuesday afternoon.

Officer Johnson said he shouted repeatedly for the Johnson youth, the driver, to stop, then fired three warning shots into the air before shooting at him.

AFL-CIO Reverses Position, Endorses State Income Tax

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Fremont — The Nebraska AFL-CIO Tuesday reversed its position and endorsed the 1965 state income tax law.

A resolution supporting the act received divided voice vote approval from the labor organization's state convention after a vigorous floor fight.

Last year's AFL-CIO convention had condemned the tax law and pledged support for a referendum drive to place the issue on this year's general election ballot.

Not Consistent

"We spent a lot of money to put this on the ballot, and now we're not being consistent," Robert McGinnis of Omaha argued.

"A reversal of position is not bad if it's in the best interest of the people involved, "Omaha Central Labor Union President Robert Danze replied.

'The alternatives to this income tax would be much worse," particularly a general sales tax, L. K. Emry of Lincoln suggested.

After Seminar

"Let's not walk blindly into a sales tax," Don Bastemeyer of Omaha agreed.

The switch position was triggered largely by a leadership tax seminar held in Lincoln in July, state AFL-CIO president Richard Nisley of Omaha told newsmen.

Delegates are now "better informed" on the tax issue than they were in 1965, Nisley said.

Not As Desirable

The resolution noted that the flat rate contained in the 1965 act is "not as desirable or equitable as the more progressive rate structure applied in the federal income tax code."

But, it suggested, the income tax law "can be made more equitable by future legislative action."

The convention also adopted a resolution instructing the AFL-CIO state executive board "to consider full use of the referendum petition to stop a retail sales tax if it is enacted instead of the state income tax."

In other action, delegates voiced opposition to the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation initiative effort to adopt a constitutional amendment prohibiting the state from levying a tax on property.

Aid Education

And, delegates urged support for the constitutional amendment which would tie a broadened tax base to state aid to education and permit the state to continue to levy a property tax to finance capital construction project after the tax base is broadened.

Political endorsements recommended by the Committee on Political Education (COPE) were accepted without change.

Thus, labor will officially support Democratic nominees for the U.S. Senate, all three House seats, governor, lt. governor, state treasurer, and the second district seat on the State Railway Commission.

Republican incumbents were endorsed for secretary of state, auditor and attorney general.

Supported

Support was also voted for constitutional amendments to authorize free school bus transportation for private and parochial students. And to provide per diem pay for state senators.

Other resolutions urged enactment of a state minimum wage law, and suggested that, "restrictive regulations, state or local, which diminish or distort (the right of political participation by public employes) should be modified, revised, or repealed."

The latter resolution apparently was aimed at Gov. Frank Morrison's executive order restricting political activity by state employees.

Welcomed

Lt. Governor Philip Sorensen, who was accorded an enthusiastic reception, praised the convention for "facing up to the issue of taxation."

The floor battle, which Sorensen witnessed, proved once again that "progress in this state does not come easily and it does not come without controversy," the Democratic gubernatorial nominee said.

Second District Democratic congressional nominee Richard Fellman said his opponent, Glenn Cunningham has, "a most uneventful record, especially with respect to South Omaha's decaying economy and Papio Creek flood problems.

'Remove Wall'

Regional COPE director Jack McCoy of Omaha said the election of Morrison to the Senate would "remove the China wall built around Nebraska and the 1870's philosophy preached by the peddlers of hate who you call U.S. senators."

Richard Lintner of Omaha was elected to the state executive board, and delegates decided to hold their 1967 convention in Grand Island.

Dr. Arnot, Schmieding Fined For Tax Evasion

Lincoln dentist Dr. Leland Arnot, 65, was fined a total of $10,000 on four counts of income tax evasion Tuesday in Federal District Court.

Dr. Arnot was also placed on two years probation by Judge Robert Van Pelt with the restriction that he cannot leave Lancaster County until the probationary period is over. A fifth complaint was dismissed by the court.

Last April the dentist had pleaded no contest to the four counts and not guilty to the last.

The counts alleged that Dr. Arnot had actual income of $108,002 during the four year period of 1959 to 1962 on which taxes of $32,880 should have been paid, but that he reported income of $40,603 on which taxes totaling $9,267 were paid.

He was fined $2,500 on each of the four counts.

Dr. Arnot, who also practiced in Exeter, is a past president of the Nebraska State Dental Association and was on the faculty of the Nebraska School of Dentistry until July, 1965.

Judge Van Pelt told several defendants charged with tax evasion that cases involving respected citizens "are among the hardest" to judge.

He cited Nebraska's history of imposing fines, rather than imprisonment, and added that it "is not unlikely that this will be changed."

Judge Van Pelt also fined Victor G. Schmieding, a dairy farmer near Lincoln, $10,000 on three counts of income tax evasion and placed him on probation for two years.

Schmieding, 46, had pleaded no contest to the charges.

James D. Lonsdale of Davenport was given a suspended sentence and three months probation for failing to file returns between 1959 and 1962.

Lonsdale's attorney, in asking leniency for the 43-year-old farmer, noted that he had been severely burned and disfigured in a truck accident near Ruskin in 1956. His wife was killed in the crash.

Schumack Arrested, Charged In Robbery

Charles O. Schumack was charged in Lancaster County Court Tuesday with three counts of armed robbery in connection with Friday's hold-up at the Havelock National Bank.

The 24-year-old Vancouver, Wash., native, accompanied by his attorney, J. Arthur Curtiss, requested a preliminary hearing before Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum.

Judge Slocum set 2 p.m. Oct. 11 for hearing and set bond at $20,000.

JURY ACQUITS THOMAS

. . . Jury Biracial

Hayneville, Ala. (AP)—A jury of eight Negroes and four white men Tuesday acquitted Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas of murder in the killing of a white civil rights worker.

The verdict came after the jury had deliberated 1 hour and 25 minutes.

Thomas, 43, of Bessemer, Ala., thus became the second of three members of the hooded organization to win an acquittal in state court in the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a Detroit, Mich., housewife shot to death March 25, 1965 following the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march.

Foreman White

The verdict was handed to the court by one of the four white jurors, Joe H. Guthrie, chosen by his fellow jurors as foreman.

It was the first biracial jury in four trials growing from the killing.

During its 40 minutes of testimony, the defense called only four witnesses and attempted to establish an alibi for Thomas.

The defense testimony put Thomas at a Veterans of Foreign Wars club at Brighton, a suburban community near Thomas' home, about the time Mrs. Liuzzo was slain.

State attorneys rested their case without calling an FBI undercover agent, Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., who had testified in three previous trials he was an eyewitness to the slaying.

Bullet Testimony

Instead, the prosecution, directed by Atty. Gen. Richard Flowers, relied chiefly on the testimony of FBI agents that the bullet which killed Mrs. Liuzzo was fired from a .38-caliber revolver identified as one owned by Thomas.

The state produced evidence also that Thomas was stopped for a muffler violation on the highway where the Detroit mother of five was slain and also the testimony of an FBI agent that Thomas admitted to him he was in the vicinity that night, March 25, 1965, and that he had his gun with him or knew where it was throughout the night.

There was no immediate explanation from Flowers for his unexpected decision to seek a first-degree murder conviction without Rowe's testimony.

From the FBI witnesses, the state produced evidence that:

—One .38-caliber bullet was recovered from Mrs. Liuzzo's body and another from inside her car.

—Firearms' examinations in the FBI laboratory in Washington showed that both bullets were fired from a gun found in a car owned by Thomas' wife and parked in front of his home the day after the killing.

—Thomas had in his possession when arrested a pistol permit for the same gun.

The latter testimony came from FBI agent Lawrence Gettings.

Thomas was the second of three accused Klan members to go on trial in state court in the Liuzzo killing. Collie Leroy Wilkins was acquitted after his first trial ended with a deadlocked jury. William Orville Eaton died of a heart attack before he could be tried on a murder indictment.

However, all three defendants were convicted in federal court on conspiracy charges growing out of the slaying and have appealed 10-year prison sentences.

"Let's not walk blindly into a sales tax," Don Bastemeyer of Omaha agreed.

The switch position was triggered largely by a leadership tax seminar held in Lincoln in July, state AFL-CIO president Richard Nisley of Omaha told newsmen.

Delegates are now "better informed" on the tax issue than they were in 1965, Nisley said.

Not As Desirable

The resolution noted that the flat rate contained in the 1965 act is "not as desirable or equitable as the more progressive rate structure applied in the federal income tax code."

But, it suggested, the income tax law "can be made more equitable by future legislative action."

The convention also adopted a resolution instructing the AFL-CIO state executive board "to consider full use of the referendum petition to stop a retail sales tax if it is enacted instead of the state income tax."

In other action, delegates voiced opposition to the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation initiative effort to adopt a constitutional amendment prohibiting the state from levying a tax on property.

Aid Education

And, delegates urged support for the constitutional amendment which would tie a broadened tax base to state aid to education and permit the state to continue to levy a property tax to finance capital construction project after the tax base is broadened.

Political endorsements recommended by the Committee on Political Education (COPE) were accepted without change.

Thus, labor will officially support Democratic nominees for the U.S. Senate, all three House seats, governor, lt. governor, state treasurer, and the second district seat on the State Railway Commission.

Republican incumbents were endorsed for secretary of state, auditor and attorney general.

Supported

Support was also voted for constitutional amendments to authorize free school bus transportation for private and parochial students. And to provide per diem pay for state senators.

Other resolutions urged enactment of a state minimum wage law, and suggested that, "restrictive regulations, state or local, which diminish or distort (the right of political participation by public employes) should be modified, revised, or repealed."

The latter resolution apparently was aimed at Gov. Frank Morrison's executive order restricting political activity by state employees.

Welcomed

Lt. Governor Philip Sorensen, who was accorded an enthusiastic reception, praised the convention for "facing up to the issue of taxation."

The floor battle, which Sorensen witnessed, proved once again that "progress in this state does not come easily and it does not come without controversy," the Democratic gubernatorial nominee said.

Second District Democratic congressional nominee Richard Fellman said his opponent, Glenn Cunningham has, "a most uneventful record, especially with respect to South Omaha's decaying economy and Papio Creek flood problems.

'Remove Wall'

Regional COPE director Jack McCoy of Omaha said the election of Morrison to the Senate would "remove the China wall built around Nebraska and the 1870's philosophy preached by the peddlers of hate who you call U.S. senators."

Richard Lintner of Omaha was elected to the state executive board, and delegates decided to hold their 1967 convention in Grand Island.

Dr. Arnot, Schmieding Fined For Tax Evasion

Lincoln dentist Dr. Leland Arnot, 65, was fined a total of $10,000 on four counts of income tax evasion Tuesday in Federal District Court.

Dr. Arnot was also placed on two years probation by Judge Robert Van Pelt with the restriction that he cannot leave Lancaster County until the probationary period is over. A fifth complaint was dismissed by the court.

Last April the dentist had pleaded no contest to the four counts and not guilty to the last.

The counts alleged that Dr. Arnot had actual income of $108,002 during the four year period of 1959 to 1962 on which taxes of $32,880 should have been paid, but that he reported income of $40,603 on which taxes totaling $9,267 were paid.

He was fined $2,500 on each of the four counts.

Dr. Arnot, who also practiced in Exeter, is a past president of the Nebraska State Dental Association and was on the faculty of the Nebraska School of Dentistry until July, 1965.

Judge Van Pelt told several defendants charged with tax evasion that cases involving respected citizens "are among the hardest" to judge.

He cited Nebraska's history of imposing fines, rather than imprisonment, and added that it "is not unlikely that this will be changed."

Judge Van Pelt also fined Victor G. Schmieding, a dairy farmer near Lincoln, $10,000 on three counts of income tax evasion and placed him on probation for two years.

Schmieding, 46, had pleaded no contest to the charges.

James D. Lonsdale of Davenport was given a suspended sentence and three months probation for failing to file returns between 1959 and 1962.

Lonsdale's attorney, in asking leniency for the 43-year-old farmer, noted that he had been severely burned and disfigured in a truck accident near Ruskin in 1956. His wife was killed in the crash.

LBJ Going To Viet Summit In October

. . . SPECULATION HAS IT HE MAY VISIT SAIGON

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP) — President Johnson will fly to the Philippines in about three weeks for a seven-nation summit conference on the Vietnamese war. A major aim will be to press an allied peace offensive.

Announcement of the 10,000-mile trip immediately stirred speculation as to whether Johnson might visit embattled South Viet Nam itself as well as other Far Eastern nations.

His arrival in the Philippines on or about Oct. 18 will put him within 1,000 miles of Saigon and the land where more than 310,000 American troops are involved in increasingly violent conflict with communist forces.

Domestic Import

That the trip has great domestic political importance for the President seems obvious. It will be his first transoceanic journey as chief executive to a foreign capital — in the midst of this fall's congressional election campaigns.

The conference was publicly called Monday night by Philippine Ferdinand E. Marcos to include all countries with military forces engaged on the allied side in the conflict.

The White House Monday described Johnson as interested.

Tuesday's information brought out that the matter had been talked about by Johnson and Marcos when the Philippine leader visited Washington within the last two weeks.

No Longer Coy

Then Tuesday the White House dropped its coy reaction and announced:

"President Johnson is glad to agree to this invitation and will be glad to join the meeting of the other chiefs of state or government . . . in the Philippines on or after Oct. 18."

World News

The other participating nations include the Philippines, with 200 troops in South Viet Nam and 2,000 going there; South Korea, with 39,000 troops; Australia, 4,500; New Zealand, 200; Thailand, fewer than 100, and South Viet Nam itself, with 707,000, including 320,000 regular forces.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said this makeup sounds to him like "an expanded Honolulu meeting" — a reference to Johnson's Hawaii talks with South Vietnamese leaders.

'Should Be Cozy'

They're "all part of our boys," Fulbright said. "It should be a cozy group . . . They'll be in agreement."

The Arkansan, a critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, said the Manila meeting would be more useful if such nations as Japan, India and Pakistan took part.

Marcos, in announcing the conference, said the military situation would be reviewed but that the emphasis would be on political, economic and diplomatic aspects of the Vietnamese conflict.

The projected conference, which other invited government chiefs also quickly accepted, coincides with Pope Paul's designation of October as a month of prayer for peace. Johnson is known to be responsive to such a move by the pontiff. Whether there was any coordination of timing is not known.

U.N. Follow-up

It follows closely the U.S. proposal in the United Nations last week for parallel actions by the United States and North Viet Nam to scale down the conflict.

Fulbright told reporters this country should follow up the Goldberg speech "with some action — stopping the bombing." He said that if an end to the bombing didn't bring some gesture of compromise from Hanoi, "then maybe nothing will."

Fulbright said the Manila conference "creates an impression of great, earnest desire for peace . . . but I don't see what it's going to accomplish."

Papal Mission To Viet Nam Has Peace-Seeking Powers

Vatican City (AP)—A special Vatican mission flew to Viet Nam on church business Tuesday but with powers to seek new ways for Pope Paul VI to help bring peace to that war-torn land.

The three-man mission was seen as a new move in the Pope's peace campaign. Departure of the high-level mission came a week after the Pope's plea in his latest encyclical for a negotiated end to the Viet Nam conflict.

In a one-paragraph announcement, the Vatican said only that the mission would take part in an extraordinary conference to study the Roman Catholic Church's problems in South Viet Nam.

But Vatican sources, the makeup of the mission, and a departure statement by the head of the delegation, Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli made it clear that the mission would have broader powers.

One objective was a settlement to end the political conflict between Buddhists and the 1.8 million Catholics in South Viet Nam as a step toward ending all conflict there.

Another goal was reported to be to seek new ideas in the very theater of the Viet Nam war that would help Pope Paul in his campaign to stop the fighting.

Vatican informants pointed out that it was highly significant that two of the three members of the mission—Archbishop Pignedoli and Msgr. Luigi Dossena — are trained diplomatic representatives of the Vatican secretariat of state.

No U.N. Official, Member Can Sell Viet Right To Be Free, Thai Says

United Nations, N.Y (AP) — Thailand declared Tuesday that no member of the United Nations nor any of its officials has the right to sell away the right of South Viet Nam to exist as a free nation.

In a policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly, Thanat Khoman, foreign minister of Thailand, opposed any U.S. decision to halt the bombing of North Viet Nam and begin a military withdrawal without matching concessions from the communists.

The 118-nation assembly also heard Paul Hasluck, foreign minister of Australia, declare that North Viet Nam "wants not agreement, but surrender."

Both Thailand and Australia will take part in the seven-nation Viet Nam peace conference in Manila next month to be attended by President Johnson. They are U.S. allies in Viet Nam.

'Worthy' Answer

"A truly worthy solution to the Viet Nam war must see to it that aggression shall not be rewarded and that South Viet Nam should be assured essentially of being able to maintain its freedom and independence and not be delivered with bound hands and feet to the conquerors," Khoman said.

Khoman's stand was in contrast to the peace plan set forth by Secretary-general U Thant, who advocates an unconditional end to the bombing of the North, a military scaledown by both sides and participation of the Viet Cong in any peace talks.

A spokesman for Thant said he stands by his three points and does not consider that Hanoi has as yet rejected them.

Khoman made no direct reference to the latest U.S. peace proposals made by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg last week. The United States offered to end the bombing of the North and to agree on a phased military withdrawal if there were corresponding de-escalation steps by Hanoi.

Transport Workers OK American Airlines Strike

By United Press International

Members of the Transport Workers Union (TWU) voted overwhelmingly Tuesday to stage a nationwide strike against American Airlines Wednesday.

An electrical workers union said it would call 26,000 General Electric employes off the job Wednesday to hear a report on contract talks.

Negotiations boiled over in the airline, electrical manufacturing and auto industries and nearly 200,000 workers were involved in threats of strike action.

A TWU spokesman said union members voted 6,139 to 186 to reject an American Airlines offer and walk off their jobs in 48 cities served by the line early Wednesday.

A company official said talks would continue "right up to the strike deadline . . . We are confident that we will wind up with a settlement."

TWU bargains for 12,000 American employes—ground crews, mechanics, clerks, communications workers and supply personnel. American was the only coast-to-coast carrier that remained in operation during a machinists' strike against five other major airlines last summer.

GE Talks Continue

General Electric negotiators continued talks with representatives of 11 unions in New York City in an effort to avert a threatened strike of 180,000 GE employes next week.

Officials of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America said they would call 26,000 members off GE jobs Wednesday to hear a "negative" report on a company contract offer.

The UE rejected a management offer of a 42-month contract, a one per cent wage hike and a ninth paid holiday. A union spokesman called it "worse than the company's previous proposals."

The International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), which represents nearly 80,000 GE employes and is the largest union involved in the talks, said locals by the score were voting to reject the company proposals.

Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan refused in Washington to block continued collective bargaining between GE and a multi-union committee.

In Pittsburgh, Westinghouse Electric Corp. resumed contract talks with four unions which Monday turned down the company's proposal for a three-year contract.

The company offer would have provided for six wage hikes and the company estimated it would cost an average of more than four per cent a year in wages alone. The unions in turning the proposal down said it failed to "recognize the urgency of a catch-up wage increase."

American Motors Corp. and United Auto Workers (UAW) officials at Milwaukee, Wis., were trying to settle grievances that triggered a wildcat strike at the firm's Milwaukee plant last week.

The strikers went back to work Monday turning out car bodies and full production was to resume Tuesday at the Kenosha, Wis., assembly plant.

Assembly Fighting Over Leaders

Saigon (AP) — A struggle for leadership of South Viet Nam's new constituent assembly was reported under way Tuesday night between experienced parliamentarians and novices among the 117 members.

Diplomatic sources said younger deputies were resisting efforts by veterans of past legislative wars to take over such key posts as assembly president, secretary-general and chairman of the drafting committee.

The younger members, the sources said, want a completely clean slate, filled with men unstained by failures of the past. The average age of the whole group, elected Sept. 11 to lead the nation toward a new democratic era, is under 40. Many are in their 20s and 30s.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky hailed the assembly Tuesday as introducing "an era of democracy, peace and prosperity," but warned that many trials lie ahead.

Officials hope the drafting of a new constitution will pave the way for election of a civilian government next year. South Viet Nam's last constitution died with the regime of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963.

After a ceremonial opening, the assembly went into closed session to select its officers. Work on the constitution is not expected until next week.

No political parties in the traditional Western sense are represented in the assembly, but blocs of members have been forming and re-forming along regional and religious lines.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., at first said the committee had approved Katzenbach's appointment, but then reported the approval was being suspended because of an objection by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Has Question

Fulbright said McCarthy, who was not at the committee session, had "an important question" he wanted to ask Katzenbach. So, Fulbright said, the committee suspended action pending another hearing.

At Tuesday's hearing, Fulbright sharply questioned whether Katzenbach, now attorney general, could fulfill the role of devil's advocate — skeptical challenger of policy decisions — within State Department councils.

"I didn't realize you were so completely and unreservedly devoted to our present policy," said Fulbright. "I don't think you should be quite so subservient to our present policy."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, concerned about too much of a unanimity of view in the State Department, urged the devil's advocate role on Katzenbach.

5 Policemen At Bellevue Resign After Demotion

Bellevue (AP) — Five Bellevue policemen submitted resignations during a city council meeting.

One of them, Patrolman Michael McAuliffe, said he quit after being notified his duties would be reduced to that of "relief radio operator, salary to be adjusted accordingly."

The other four said they felt McAuliffe was "treated unfairly" and that "under prevailing conditions" they feared they might be subject to similar actions.

Less than a month ago Lt. Harold Henry resigned from the force, Chief Warren E. Robinson said the latest resignations reduced the force from 18 to 13. He said he had a reserve force of eight.

Remains Of Braniff Jet Still Analyzed By CAB And FAA

Kanss City, Mo. (UPI)—Investigators of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) are still analyzing the remains of the Braniff BAC-111 jet that crashed near Falls City, Neb., Aug. 6.

John Brobeck, head of the FAA team on the accident, said representatives of the CAB, FAA, Braniff, Airline Pilots' Association, and Britain would meet this week in Weybridge, England, in the continuing probe. The BAC-111 is made by the British Aircraft Corp. of England.

Brobeck said a formal hearing would be conducted next month in Nebraska, probably Falls City. According to the rules, the hearing must be held in the state in which the accident occurred.

Although there has been no final determination as to the cause of the accident, it has become obvious that the twin-jet craft came apart in the air while flying through an area of violent weather.

George Baker of the CAB in Washington, head of the over-all investigation, said a full report may be months in coming.

Sources close to the investigation, however, say that agreement has generally been reached that the right wing of the airplane snapped off under a stress that exceeded its strength.

Next the horizontal stabilizer broke away, followed by the rudder and tail section.

This separation of the aircraft occurred in about five seconds after which, according to witnesses the plane spun three times, slowly and in a flat attitude, as it fell to the ground. Fuel from the ruptured wing tanks was apparently ignited before it began this fatal gyration to the ground because all witnesses reported the craft on fire on the way down.

Gage County Extension Budget Going To Court

By DEAN TERRILL

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice — Gage County's Extension Board has called for a court challenge of the county supervisors' rejection of an $11,100 budget submitted for the coming year.

Charles Vitosh, Jr. of Odell, president of the eight-member extension board, said a writ of mandamus will be filed in District Court. The unanimous decision to force the issue came at a board meeting Monday night.

"Under the circumstances the board has no alternative but to file," the president said in a prepared statement.

The supervisors cut $497 from the budget request last month. Extension personnel contended this was a violation of state law. Approval of the budget is not mandatory, Vitosh asserted, unless the amount would force a tax levy exceeding four-tenths of a mill.

"We have given careful consideration to the estimated financial needs . . . in the amount of $11,100," the spokesman continued. "This is approximately 35% of the legal limitation."

Funds Transfer

Also criticized was the supervisors' transfer of a requested $720 for salary increases into a miscellaneous fund originally budgeted at $120.

Nebraska News

Chairman Ed Shalla of the county supervisors said at the previous hearing that the $720 could be used "for anything but wages." The supervisors had made their August stand on a hold-the-line salary policy. No raises were granted county employes. There have been some protests that the county agents are better paid than other county officials.

Besides shifting funds proposed for salary increases for three extension agents, the supervisors refused an increase in mileage rates from eight to 10c. A $300 raise for an office assistant also was cut.

The extension board is composed of unpaid citizens, most of them from rural areas. Federal funds provide the greatest portion of compensation for professional agents Victor McClure, Elton Perry and Mrs. Gwen Cooper.

Ethics In Public Life

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One small joke recently making the rounds among city employes was that all such employes would have to return unopened to their sender all Christmas cards received this year. The joke was a play upon the proposed new code of ethics for city officials and employes. A little more cynical joke is that the new code, ultimately, will exclude officials but include regular employes.

Reason For Delay

Aside from such bits of good humor, the code of ethics represents an issue entitled to the serious consideration being given it by the City Council. We would have to search a long time to find a more knotty problem than the one surrounding ethics in government. It is not that too many officials are unethical, but simply that a code of conduct is nearly impossible to write without imposing damaging restrictions upon the conduct of public affairs. This is the crux of the delay now being experienced before the council by the proposed new code.

Basically, the code has three separate provisions. It forbids the improper use by city employes of public property and there is little difficulty in the drafting of such a prohibition as this. It means that city employes cannot use city cars for personal pleasure, have their car fixed by a police mechanic, dip into city supplies for items needed at home, etc.

This is considered a relatively minor matter in Lincoln but only because we have been so clean on this score in the past. Lincoln has been most fortunate in having no known cases of improper employe use of public property or services, a fine testimonial to the integrity of city employes in general.

Secondly, the new code gets into the field of public information and here there are difficulties. The code states that "no official or employe shall, without prior formal authorization of the public body having jurisdiction, disclose any confidential information concerning any other official or employe, or any other person, or any property or governmental affairs of the city of Lincoln . . ." This is a provision that could be interpreted in a variety of ways. Without question, it could serve as a shield behind which public officials could hide in refusing to disclose pertinent public information. It could be so mis-used that the public could be effectively denied the basic information it needs to effect a judgment of responsibility on current public affairs.

The government could hide behind this provision and refuse to tell the people anything about what was being done or what was going on. It is impossible to define without differences of opinion what constitutes "confidential information." Obviously, it could mean anything done in secret. Thus, the provision could actually encourage the execution of city business in private. It could mean, in the minds of some people, any information that might have a harmful effect on someone or something. Thus, it encourages refusal to disclose anything of a critical nature in regard to public programs or employes. Obviously, the people should be spoon-fed only the good things about city government.

The need for any such confidential information section in the new code is questionable in view of a city charter provision covering much the same area. But if such a section must be in the new code, it should take a positive approach, requiring the disclosure of all information except that deemed upon prior formal approval to be detrimental to the purpose such information seeks to achieve.

A third category of the code covers conflicts of interest and, again, this presents difficulties. Generally, the code does not outlaw interests that are in conflict with government affairs, but does demand their disclosure. This is the approach that should be retained, even though some improvement might be made in the wording of the proposition.

In Simple Form

For attorneys and perhaps some other professions, the code creates a problem since the canons of their profession forbid disclosure of the nature of their relationships with clients. This could be dealt with by simply requiring a disclosure that called for nothing more than the existence of a conflict and the parties involved. An attorney can state that he has a certain client and name that client. Such information is even contained in published form by the profession itself. There is no particular need for conflict disclosures to be extensive or specific as to detail.

The code as it now stands may be questionable enough to warrant some changes but such a document ought to be on the books. Such action is simply sound preventive medicine. No one need be denied the privilege of public service if they so desire it but public service cannot be allowed at any and all costs.

The Tiring Campaign

Both political parties in Nebraska have expressed favor with a shortening of campaigns through inauguration of a September primary. By the boards would go the May contest in which party choices are now made for the general election runoff in November.

Many an amen will be heard from the public, already tired of electioneering with the campaign having another five weeks to run. The only question is whether the change in the primary election date would accomplish the desired results.

It is possible that it would but not at all guaranteed. Secretary of State Frank Marsh questioned whether the change in dates would have the desired results of curtailing the campaign period.

Regardless of the election date, candidates are free to campaign as they see fit. The mounting cost of elections and the time consumed in campaigning are matters of determination by the parties and the nominees and candidates for office.

GOP gubernatorial candidate Norbert T. Tiemann said he has been campaigning for 14 months. And he indicated the date of the primary had nothing to do with it. Newcomers will campaign early, regardless of election dates, he said.

You can't put the blame for campaign time and expense on anyone. The development is a part of the nature of the competitive political situation we have and nothing short of regulatory legislation is apt to change it.

Restrictions on campaign spending and the length of campaigns may seem appealing but their weakness would be an obvious interference with our free elective system. Like our whole system of government, our elective system may not be perfect but nothing better has been devised, to date.

Inquiry Ended

The to-do over alleged violations of civil rights at the state penitentiary seems to have dissipated. It reminded one of a little summer whirlwind. It raised a little dust in the field, kicked eight or nine corn shucks around violently and then vanished in the upper air.

Director of the penal complex, Maurice Sigler, is a fair man and a competent restrainer of the law breakers. And that is the way he went through the investigation and came out of it.

He is charged with the detention of outlaws. Many of them are not dangerous. Some of them are. All have had their civil rights impaired by law. Each for a period of time have lost their freedom of movement, have had their economic advancement curbed and the social horizons limited. This he can do nothing about. His prime responsibilities consist of running a place of detention with a minimum of disturbance in the fairest possible way. If in the name of security he must remove some men from others, regardless of color, in the cause of general safety, it is incumbent upon him to do so. And this is all he did.

More significant that the formal inquiry has been the attitude of the director of the complex and his staff. They are examining their own methods and seeking ways to perfect their service. They are doing this without a directive from above.

If some places are more poor than others in our prison, if health care could stand improvement or there is to be a better ration of food, and things like that, the responsibility rests with the people of Nebraska. They determine what are to be the budgets and the level of care is up to them. The director's judgment is subject to higher authority.

If We Want It

Missouri River Basin planners have given this region a heady view of the future.

They have predicted that by the year 2,020 our population will be 2.5 times its present size.

That could mean that Nebraska will be a state not of 1.5 million people but of more than 3.5 million. The view indicates better employment, higher incomes, less farming but more prosperous and more abundant farming.

According to our natural and habitual feelings this appears to be an answer to our dreams. But we must remember that the forecast speaks of potentials, not of automatic facts. It simply says it is something that could be if we prepare our attitudes and practices so as to realize it. It is a promise delivered in plenty of time. But it will require some changes in our thinking. And that may come hard. It may come too hard. That part is up to us.

It is just as much a fact that portions of this region and some communities will actually decline. Some of the states in the area will not match the growth potential. Some others will exceed theirs.

Nebraska, for instance, will have to sweep away some of its institutionalized thinking against growth. It will have to give up some ways of life that time has made sweet. We will not have growth if we are unwilling to invest in it. We cannot become urban while practicing rural thinking. We shall have to accept labor as well as management if we mean to industrialize, for the two go together.

Nebraska is basically a wealthy state, in economic terms, but it is significant that it has never seen fit to reach all the way for that sort of wealth. And it has not grown as have many areas with much less in the way of natural resources. We cannot resist the national trends and yet benefit greatly.

Say FBI Acted Too Precipitously

WASHINGTON — There's something peculiar about the sudden rash of spy cases which the FBI has broken this summer, at least one of which upset a plan to persuade a Russian scientist to defect to the United States.

In this particular case, John Huminik, the American scientist who played the role of a double agent in giving "sanitized" information to a Russian scientist, complained bitterly about the abrupt action of the FBI in arresting the Russian.

He was so disturbed that on Sept. 11 he wrote the FBI this confidential letter:

"I get a telephone call which, in effect, says there will not be any drop on the 20th of September, no new passports, no chance to see if Valentin (Revin) will work for us; only a guillotine end to all the work we put into this thing. I would not have been as disturbed if we tried to defect him and failed, or if I had been consulted about the required rapid ending. I do feel that after working at this thing as intensely and with all the sincerity as I have, that some last comment would have been sought . . .

"For example," continued the American double agent, "I could have immediately sought Valentin and suggested that we have a serious discussion regarding his career; and if for the smallest reason he would have cooperated, then we would have helped tighten our overall security tremendously. If for some political reason it was necessary to throw someone out, then perhaps another Russian could have been selected for a trip home."

☆ ☆ ☆

J. Edgar Hoover, however, apparently more interested in publicity than winning over a Russian convert, ordered the arrest of Valentin A. Revin, Soviet science attache who was implicated.

In two other spy cases, the FBI had the situation under control for five to seven years, and the G-men were doing an excellent job when they got orders from J. Edgar Hoover to make arrests.

William Whalen, a retired army colonel, had been under FBI surveillance for seven years while allegedly selling information to the Russians. The G-men knew all that he was doing, and since he had retired from the army there was no chance of his giving information of any present value to the Russians. In cases such as this, it is customary to postpone arrest indefinitely in order to catch other Russians who might seek out the American suspect.

☆ ☆ ☆

However, the Justice Department had been forced to make an admission before the Supreme Court on May 24 that the FBI had placed an electronic listening device in the Sheraton Carlton Hotel suite of Fred Black, the Washington lobbyist convicted of tax evasion. This eavesdropping, highly embarrassing to Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach and to Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, automatically killed much of the case against Black.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

New Type Calendar Aged Lady's Aim

NEW YORK — Miss Elizabeth Achelis is white-haired, patrician and 86 years of age. Just old enough to have to tug her way out of deep club chairs, but still young enough to fight.

"I have spent the last 36 years of my life in a steadfast state of dissatisfaction," she confesses cheerfully, "but I'm not going to give up the battle. I think I'm going to live long enough to see it won!"

What Miss Achelis is fighting for is something so innately sensible, so entirely logical in this era of exact sciences, that one wonders why her cause is constantly frustrated: She wants calendar reform.

She wants the world to kick the Gregorian calendar back to another century, "where it belongs," and adopt "the world calendar" —which would divide the year into three-month quarters of 13 weeks each, would stabilize holidays on the same day every annum, would provide a "world day" extra holiday to take care of that awkward 365th day in the year, and a "leapyear day" holiday on leap years.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Why do I feel as strongly about a new calendar as I do? Because my sense of order is offended by the informality of the current arrangement of days, weeks and months," she says, with dignity. "If you are born on a Tuesday, I think your birthday should always come on a Tuesday. And it disturbs me to have Easter wandering around amid March and April. I think Easter deserves a permanent date that we can count on.

"And think of management and labor. Management could set its computers, plan ahead and ease its fiscal, bookkeeping and statistics problems by having days permanently anchored to dates. And workers would always know where they stand; Christmas always falling on Monday, Easter on Sunday, April, 8, and Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 4.

"Right now, Father Time's family contains a most unruly lot of children. All I want to do is straighten them out and put them in their places."

Almost no one, and certainly no faction except certain religious sects (who follow their own private calendars), is against the "world calendar" which was introduced as long ago as 1910. In fact, a great many important men, women and organizations have been for it. Miss Achelis personally persuaded Mahatma Gandhi to sign a statement declaring his favor of it, the Russians have always approved it, 17 nations in the League of Nations favored it, and calendar has had — and now maintains—bi-partisan support in Congress.

"The trouble, and cause for frustration," says Miss Achelis, "is apathy and fear of change. People are afraid to change anything as basic as the calendar. They forget that sometimes change is sensible, and you can get used to it, like bustles going out, and skirt hems going up."

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article on how digitalis helps the heart, and would like one on the use of nitroglycerin.—M.L.

Molner

Nitroglycerin is possibly the most useful drug we have for one type of heart trouble, angina, which is chest pain resulting (usually) from insufficient blood circulation to the heart muscle.

After exertion, or a big meal which is an activity that puts demands on blood circulation, the heart muscle, overtaxed, cramps painfully.

Resting the heart until it catches up its strength, is important. But a tiny amount of nitroglycerin, acting as a drug, does it quicker. It dilates the coronary arteries, allowing more blood to flow, but without increasing the work of the heart. Other drugs will improve circulation, but they also put added strain on the heart.

That is why nitroglycerin is so useful. There is a similar preparation, amyl nitrite, which also is very effective but its effects are not as long-lasting. A tablet of nitroglycerin brings relief within minutes, and the effects last from 30 minutes to several hours, depending on the patient. (The tablets are dissolved under the tongue, which is much more effective than swallowing them.)

Frequency of use is variable, from an occasional pill to several a day. Part of the trick of effective use is for the patient to learn how much exertion brings on pain. Let's say that a man walks several blocks from his office to the parking lot, and notes that this long walk usually causes angina pain. A pill before he starts can let him make the walk in comfort. Or a person who can walk moderate distances may find that when he has to walk against the wind, a pill makes the difference between comfort and cramps. Still, it is important for the angina patient to learn to stay within the limitations of his natural "heart power," and not press his luck and depend on having mitrocerine do more for him than it is supposed to do.

There can be some side effects which the patient should be warned about: A feeling of fullness in the head, transient giddiness, flushing or warmth of the skin. Once one gets used to them — if they occur — they are usually well tolerated, and certainly preferable to the exhausting pain of an attack.

Here's another warning: Nitroglycerin must be used cautiously by patients with glaucoma; if you have glaucoma, make sure your doctor is told about it.

The drug has a relaxing effect on a certain type of muscle, known as "smooth muscle," such as is found in the bile ducts and ureteral tubes, and thus it gives some relief in attacks of colic from gallstones or kidneystones.

Not all chest pain is angina, so if nitroglycerin does not bring relief, further study of the case is essential to make sure that some other trouble, including coronary thrombosis, is not involved. While the pain of angina and of a coronary attack are similar, the latter is not relieved by nitroglycerin or rest.

Pleasant things about nitroglycerin are that it is inexpensive, and not habit-forming.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is pneumonitis? — J. G.

If is a localized inflammation of the lung. You might reasonably call it a limited or mild pneumonia which usually clears up readily with antibiotics and rest.

Dear Dr. Molner: What if a cooked turkey is refrigerated at night, and taken from the refrigerator later and left out for 24 hours? Would it be safe to eat? Also what about removing the stuffing after the bird is cooked? — M.M.

The meat of the turkey probably would be safe to eat after 24 hours, except under unusual circumstances, but personally I would prefer not to take a chance.

Stuffing is another matter, particularly if it contains egg, which is an ideal medium for bacterial growth, and after 24 hours at room temperature you certainly could not be sure it was safe.

Stuffing can be removed and refrigerated, but getting all of it out, without leaving some traces, is problematical.

Thus for safety, it is best to keep bird and stuffing refrigerated rather than taking a chance. There is no rule better than "keep it hot; keep it cold, or don't keep it."

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been plagued with red, inflamed granular eyelids for years. Doctors seem to consider this a minor discomfort and say that nothing can be done.—E.T.W.

Allergies, chronic infection (including trachoma), and nutritional deficiencies are all possible factors. You should go to an ophthalmologist (eye specialist) to determine the exact cause. I doubt that "nothing can be done."

Dear Dr. Molner: Would the health of children aged 6 to 16 be affected by sleeping in a fully insulated, heated and dehumidified basement which is completely below ground level?—J. M. S.

There must be some ventilation. The hazard of basements is carbon monoxide from furnaces or water heaters, whether the fuel is oil, gas or coal. If you can get fresh air into the basement at night, there will be no harmful effect otherwise.

I note that this basement is dehumidified. This is important. Moisture encourages growth of mold which can be a trouble-maker from the standpoint of causing allergies.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible to wash the hair too often? My 14-year-old daughter washes hers every other day.—MRS. M. J. H.

By removing oil from the scalp, too much washing can in time leave the skin too dry. Youngsters with their vigorous glands may not suffer. If the scalp is not too dry, washing every other day is not harmful. Shampooing once a week may be all that is really necessary.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Vista Program

Lincoln, Neb.

We have been in Lincoln but a short time, as Vista Volunteers, but we can already see where something like Vista is needed. Vista may not be needed on as large a scale as in New York or Chicago, but there is poverty here. The problem in Lincoln is that it is camouflaged by the larger degree of affluence that is found here.

There are numerous people in Lincoln who are living in poverty, who are on welfare not because they want to but because they have no more than a fourth-grade education, no job ability, or no family provider. There are more people in Lincoln who need the training classes offered by the State Employment Service than there are openings for them. There are people who aren't aware of these training programs and people who have too low an education level to qualify. Some are ashamed to admit they can't read. There are landlords charging low-income families exorbitant prices for inferior houses. There are families with six or seven children, living on $150 a month. Some families do not know how to budget their income. Some mothers do not know how to cook economical, nutritious meals. There are families who can't speak English. There are school drop-outs who can't find work. There are fatherless boys with no guidance.

What Vista will try to do in the next year is to help acquaint these people with the different programs available to them and encourage them to improve their education and job abilities. Every Lincolnite should be willing to assist.

Curtis Record

Lincoln, Neb.

When Curtis filed for reelection, he stated he was going to run on his past record, which would have been commendable if carried out. However, apparently his campaign manager and party leaders didn't think, as most of us, that it looked as if much of it was dropped like a hot potato. Also, when Mr. Curtis was asked some pointed questions concerning this record on his TV interview, he ducked them and tried to dump the problems on the Johnson administration. He didn't say what was wrong the 20-odd years before.

This not leaving much that was desirable to talk about, it was decided to try to wear Gov. Morrison down to Mr. Curtis's size, and that has proved to be a bit of a problem, also.

The result of this election will be determined by the people of Nebraska, of course. They must decide which is the most important to them—the state of Nebraska or the Republican party. At any rate, should party faithfulness prevail, it hasn't been another "shoo-in" and Mr. Curtis had to spend some time at least pretending to be interested in what goes on in the state he is supposed to represent.

Seventh Day

Lincoln, Neb.

I could be wrong, but the Sabbath to me is the day of rest after working six days.

The Fourth of the Ten Commandments says: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work."

To me, this does not mean the seventh day of the week. Suppose a man starts on Wednesday. To me, this means that he should rest on Tuesday, the seventh day after working six days.

Ethics In Public Life

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One small joke recently making the rounds among city employes was that all such employes would have to return unopened to their sender all Christmas cards received this year. The joke was a play upon the proposed new code of ethics for city officials and employes. A little more cynical joke is that the new code, ultimately, will exclude officials but include regular employes.

Aside from such bits of good humor, the code of ethics represents an issue entitled to the serious consideration being given it by the City Council. We would have to search a long time to find a more knotty problem than the one surrounding ethics in government. It is not that too many officials are unethical, but simply that a code of conduct is nearly impossible to write without imposing damaging restrictions upon the conduct of public affairs. This is the crux of the delay now being experienced before the council by the proposed new code.

Reason For Delay

Basically, the code has three separate provisions. It forbids the improper use by city employes of public property and there is little difficulty in the drafting of such a prohibition as this. It means that city employes cannot use city cars for personal pleasure, have their car fixed by a police mechanic, dip into city supplies for items needed at home, etc.

Secondly, the new code gets into the field of public information and here there are difficulties. The code states that "no official or employe shall, without prior formal authorization of the public body having jurisdiction, disclose any confidential information concerning any other official or employe, or any other person, or any property or governmental affairs of the city of Lincoln . . ." This is a provision that could be interpreted in a variety of ways. Without question, it could serve as a shield behind which public officials could hide in refusing to disclose pertinent public information. It could be so mis-used that the public could be effectively denied the basic information it needs to effect a judgment of responsibility on current public affairs.

The government could hide behind this provision and refuse to tell the people anything about what was being done or what was going on. It is impossible to define without differences of opinion what constitutes "confidential information." Obviously, it could mean anything done in secret. Thus, it encourages refusal to disclose anything of a critical nature in regard to public programs or employes. Obviously, the people should be spoon-fed only the good things about city government.

The need for any such confidential information section in the new code is questionable in view of a city charter provision covering much the same area. This is the approach that should be retained, even though some improvement might be made in the wording of the proposition.

For attorneys and perhaps some other professions, the code creates a problem since the canons of their profession forbid disclosure of the nature of their relationships with clients. This could be dealt with by simply requiring a disclosure that called for nothing more than the existence of a conflict and the parties involved. An attorney can state that he has a certain client and name that client. Such information is even contained in published form by the profession itself. There is no particular need for conflict disclosures to be extensive or specific as to detail.

Say FBI Acted Too Precipitously

WASHINGTON — There's something peculiar about the sudden rash of spy cases which the FBI has broken this summer, at least one of which upset a plan to persuade a Russian scientist to defect to the United States.

In this particular case, John Huminik, the American scientist who played the role of a double agent in giving "sanitized" information to a Russian scientist, complained bitterly about the abrupt action of the FBI in arresting the Russian.

He was so disturbed that on Sept. 11 he wrote the FBI this confidential letter:

"I get a telephone call which, in effect, says there will not be any drop on the 20th of September, no new passports, no chance to see if Valentin (Revin) will work for us; only a guillotine end to all the work we put into this thing. I would not have been as disturbed if we tried to defect him and failed, or if I had been consulted about the required rapid ending. I do feel that after working at this thing as intensely and with all the sincerity as I have, that some last comment would have been sought . . .

"For example," continued the American double agent, "I could have immediately sought Valentin and suggested that we have a serious discussion regarding his career; and if for the smallest reason he would have cooperated, then we would have helped tighten our overall security tremendously. If for some political reason it was necessary to throw someone out, then perhaps another Russian could have been selected for a trip home."

☆ ☆ ☆

J. Edgar Hoover, however, apparently more interested in publicity than winning over a Russian convert, ordered the arrest of Valentin A. Revin, Soviet science attache who was implicated.

In two other spy cases, the FBI had the situation under control for five to seven years, and the G-men were doing an excellent job when they got orders from J. Edgar Hoover to make arrests.

William Whalen, a retired army colonel, had been under FBI surveillance for seven years while allegedly selling information to the Russians. The G-men knew all that he was doing, and since he had retired from the army there was no chance of his giving information of any present value to the Russians. In cases such as this, it is customary to postpone arrest indefinitely in order to catch other Russians who might seek out the American suspect.

☆ ☆ ☆

However, the Justice Department had been forced to make an admission before the Supreme Court on May 24 that the FBI had placed an electronic listening device in the Sheraton Carlton Hotel suite of Fred Black, the Washington lobbyist convicted of tax evasion. This eavesdropping, highly embarrassing to Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach and to Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, automatically killed much of the case against Black.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

New Type Calendar Aged Lady's Aim

NEW YORK — Miss Elizabeth Achelis is white-haired, patrician and 86 years of age. Just old enough to have to tug her way out of deep club chairs, but still young enough to fight.

"I have spent the last 36 years of my life in a steadfast state of dissatisfaction," she confesses cheerfully, "but I'm not going to give up the battle. I think I'm going to live long enough to see it won!"

What Miss Achelis is fighting for is something so innately sensible, so entirely logical in this era of exact sciences, that one wonders why her cause is constantly frustrated: She wants calendar reform.

She wants the world to kick the Gregorian calendar back to another century, "where it belongs," and adopt "the world calendar" —which would divide the year into three-month quarters of 13 weeks each, would stabilize holidays on the same day every annum, would provide a "world day" extra holiday to take care of that awkward 365th day in the year, and a "leapyear day" holiday on leap years.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Why do I feel as strongly about a new calendar as I do? Because my sense of order is offended by the informality of the current arrangement of days, weeks and months," she says, with dignity. "If you are born on a Tuesday, I think your birthday should always come on a Tuesday. And it disturbs me to have Easter wandering around amid March and April. I think Easter deserves a permanent date that we can count on.

"And think of management and labor. Management could set its computers, plan ahead and ease its fiscal, bookkeeping and statistics problems by having days permanently anchored to dates. And workers would always know where they stand; Christmas always falling on Monday, Easter on Sunday, April, 8, and Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 4.

"Right now, Father Time's family contains a most unruly lot of children. All I want to do is straighten them out and put them in their places."

Almost no one, and certainly no faction except certain religious sects (who follow their own private calendars), is against the "world calendar" which was introduced as long ago as 1910. In fact, a great many important men, women and organizations have been for it. Miss Achelis personally persuaded Mahatma Gandhi to sign a statement declaring his favor of it, the Russians have always approved it, 17 nations in the League of Nations favored it, and calendar has had — and now maintains—bi-partisan support in Congress.

"The trouble, and cause for frustration," says Miss Achelis, "is apathy and fear of change. People are afraid to change anything as basic as the calendar. They forget that sometimes change is sensible, and you can get used to it, like bustles going out, and skirt hems going up."

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner; I read your article on how digitalis helps the heart, and would like one on the use of nitroglycerin.—M.L.

Molner

Nitroglycerin is possibly the most useful drug we have for one type of heart trouble, angina, which is chest pain resulting (usually) from insufficient blood circulation to the heart muscle.

After exertion, or a big meal which is an activity that puts demands on blood circulation, the heart muscle, overtaxed, cramps painfully.

Resting the heart until it catches up its strength, is important. But a tiny amount of nitroglycerin, acting as a drug, does it quicker. It dilates the coronary arteries, allowing more blood to flow, but without increasing the work of the heart. Other drugs will improve circulation, but they also put added strain on the heart.

That is why nitroglycerin is so useful. There is a similar preparation, amyl nitrite, which also is very effective but its effects are not as long-lasting. A tablet of nitroglycerin brings relief within minutes, and the effects last from 30 minutes to several hours, depending on the patient. (The tablets are dissolved under the tongue, which is much more effective than swallowing them.)

Frequency of use is variable, from an occasional pill to several a day. Part of the trick of effective use is for the patient to learn how much exertion brings on pain. Let's say that a man walks several blocks from his office to the parking lot, and notes that this long walk usually causes angina pain. A pill before he starts can let him make the walk in comfort. Or a person who can walk moderate distances may find that when he has to walk against the wind, a pill makes the difference between comfort and cramps. Still, it is important for the angina patient to learn to stay within the limitations of his natural "heart power," and not press his luck and depend on having mitrocerine do more for him than it is supposed to do.

There can be some side effects which the patient should be warned about: A feeling of fullness in the head, transient giddiness, flushing or warmth of the skin. Once one gets used to them — if they occur — they are usually well tolerated, and certainly preferable to the exhausting pain of an attack.

Here's another warning: Nitroglycerin must be used cautiously by patients with glaucoma; if you have glaucoma, make sure your doctor is told about it.

The drug has a relaxing effect on a certain type of muscle, known as "smooth muscle," such as is found in the bile ducts and ureteral tubes, and thus it gives some relief in attacks of colic from gallstones or kidneystones.

Not all chest pain is angina, so if nitroglycerin does not bring relief, further study of the case is essential to make sure that some other trouble, including coronary thrombosis, is not involved. While the pain of angina and of a coronary attack are similar, the latter is not relieved by nitroglycerin or rest.

Pleasant things about nitroglycerin are that it is inexpensive, and not habit-forming.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is pneumonitis? — J. G.

If is a localized inflammation of the lung. You might reasonably call it a limited or mild pneumonia which usually clears up readily with antibiotics and rest.

Dear Dr. Molner: What if a cooked turkey is refrigerated at night, and taken from the refrigerator later and left out for 24 hours? Would it be safe to eat? Also what about removing the stuffing after the bird is cooked? — M.M.

The meat of the turkey probably would be safe to eat after 24 hours, except under unusual circumstances, but personally I would prefer not to take a chance.

Stuffing is another matter, particularly if it contains egg, which is an ideal medium for bacterial growth, and after 24 hours at room temperature you certainly could not be sure it was safe.

Stuffing can be removed and refrigerated, but getting all of it out, without leaving some traces, is problematical.

Thus for safety, it is best to keep bird and stuffing refrigerated rather than taking a chance. There is no rule better than "keep it hot, keep it cold, or don't keep it."

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been plagued with red, inflamed granular eyelids for years. Doctors seem to consider this a minor discomfort and say that nothing can be done.—E.T.W.

Allergies, chronic infection (including trachoma), and nutritional deficiencies are all possible factors. You should go to an ophthalmologist (eye specialist) to determine the exact cause. I doubt that "nothing can be done."

Dear Dr. Molner: Would the health of children aged 6 to 16 be affected by sleeping in a fully insulated, heated and dehumidified basement which is completely below ground level?—J. M. S.

There must be some ventilation. The hazard of basements is carbon monoxide from furnaces or water heaters, whether the fuel is oil, gas or coal. If you can get fresh air into the basement at night, there will be no harmful effect otherwise.

I note that this basement is dehumidified. This is important. Moisture encourages growth of mold which can be a trouble-maker from the standpoint of causing allergies.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible to wash the hair too often? My 14-year-old daughter washes hers every other day. —MRS. M. J. H.

By removing oil from the scalp, too much washing can in time leave the skin too dry. Youngsters with their vigorous glands may not suffer. If the scalp is not too dry, washing every other day is not harmful. Shampooing once a week may be all that is really necessary.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Vista Program

Lincoln, Neb.

We have been in Lincoln but a short time, as Vista Volunteers, but we can already see where something like Vista is needed. Vista may not be needed on as large a scale as in New York or Chicago, but there is poverty here. The problem in Lincoln is that it is camouflaged by the larger degree of affluence that is found here.

There are numerous people in Lincoln who are living in poverty, who are on welfare not because they want to but because they have no more than a fourth-grade education, no job ability, or no family provider. There are more people in Lincoln who need the training classes offered by the State Employment Service than there are openings for them. There are people who aren't aware of these training programs and people who have too low an education level to qualify. Some are ashamed to admit they can't read. There are landlords charging low-income families exorbitant prices for inferior houses. There are families with six or seven children, living on $150 a month. Some families do not know how to budget their income. Some mothers do not know how to cook economical, nutritious meals. There are families who can't speak English. There are school drop-outs who can't find work. There are fatherless boys with no guidance.

What Vista will try to do in the next year is to help acquaint these people with the different programs available to them and encourage them to improve their education and job abilities. Every Lincolnite should be willing to assist.

Curtis Record

Lincoln, Neb.

When Curtis filed for reelection, he stated he was going to run on his past record, which would have been commendable if carried out. However, apparently his campaign manager and party leaders didn't think, as most of us, that it looked as if much of it was dropped like a hot potato. Also, when Mr. Curtis was asked some pointed questions concerning this record on his TV interview, he ducked them and tried to dump the problems on the Johnson administration. He didn't say what was wrong the 20-odd years before.

This not leaving much that was desirable to talk about, it was decided to try to wear Gov. Morrison down to Mr. Curtis's size, and that has proved to be a bit of a problem, also.

The result of this election will be determined by the people of Nebraska, of course. They must decide which is the most important to them—the state of Nebraska or the Republican party. At any rate, should party faithfulness prevail, it hasn't been another "shoo-in" and Mr. Curtis had to spend some time at least pretending to be interested in what goes on in the state he is supposed to represent.

Seventh Day

Lincoln, Neb.

I could be wrong, but the Sabbath to me is the day of rest after working six days.

The Fourth of the Ten Commandments says: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work."

To me, this does not mean the seventh day of the week. Suppose a man starts on Wednesday. To me, this means that he should rest on Tuesday, the seventh day after working six days.

GOP Chided For Not Divorcing Extremists

Kearney (UPI) — State Democratic Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney Tuesday chided the state Republican Party for not divorcing itself from extremist groups during its state convention in Omaha last weekend.

Mitchell said the Democratic state convention, in contrast, "rejected those who would act as extremists for the radical attack upon our society and its leaders, including the John Birch Society, the Communist Party, and other irresponsible elements of both right and left who seek the destruction of the democratic fabric of our society."

Mitchell said Republican leaders "were absolutely silent on this."

Referring to the last Republican national convention in San Francisco, Mitchell noted that Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., led the Goldwater attack that defeated a resolution on extremism "with boos and catcalls for Romney, Scranton, Rockefeller, Senator Keating and others."

"The John Birch Society, a secret organization of the extreme right, has made considerable inroads in the Republican Party in Nebraska and by admission of Republican State Chairman Walter Witthoff there are several members of the society that have sat on the Republican Party state central committee," he charged.

"The founder of the John Birch Society referred to President Dwight Eisenhower as a communist. There is no place for any secret extremist groups such as the Communist Party, the John Birch Society or the Ku Klux Klan in our political parties and I'm proud of the fact that the Democratic Party of Nebraska has had the fortitude to openly go on record against such organizations," Mitchell concluded.

"It's regrettable that Republican leaders and candidates could not do the same."

Tiemann: State Cannot Lose Packing Industry

Omaha (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Norbert Tiemann said Tuesday "Nebraska can't afford to lose the Omaha packing industry. It's just as much a Nebraska problem as it is an Omaha problem."

Tiemann told the South Omaha Optimist Club luncheon "Mayor Sorensen is doing everything he can, but he needs assistance from the rest of the state."

He said "agriculture is still a big industry in Nebraska it's a big industry for the farmer, rancher, feeder — and it's big business for Omaha We have to keep the Union Stockyards here and the packing industry as well. The Omaha market is necessary to the Nebraska and Iowa farmers and the farmers of the Midlands. South Omaha particularly has a big stake here. It means millions of dollars in wages and general business. We can't let it get away.

"We must have a strong competitive central market for our livestock. It is more than Omaha's business, it's Nebraska's business, and deserves the strongest support from our state government, particularly the governor. We must do everything we can to keep the packers in Omaha. The prosperity of the state depends on it."

Tiemann pledged to give every assistant to Mayor Al Sorensen "when I am elected governor of this state."

A graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and former director of the National Livestock and Meat Board, Tiemann said he certainly appreciates the problems of the packers, shippers, the feeders and the farmers.

He pledged what he called "long neglected state leadership to this important part of our economy."

Rasmussen Says Nebraska School Land On River Island

State Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper said Tuesday about 150 acres of Nebraska-owned state school land is located on Wilson Island on the Missouri River north of Omaha.

Wilson Island, located on the Iowa side of the river, is one of 32 tracts of land claimed by Iowa in the Nebraska - Iowa boundary dispute pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sen. Rasmussen said he has asked the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds to locate any Nebraska school land which is within the 32 tracts claimed by Iowa or on the Iowa side of the river.

The lawmaker, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, earlier reported that Nebraska school land is involved in the boundary fight between the two states.

He said an Iowa official's denial of school land involvement in the dispute prompted him to seek more detailed information.

He said the school land on Wilson Island is particularly valuable because of its proximity to the Desota Bend federal wildlife refuge near Fort Calhoun, Neb.

He said the meanderings of the Missouri River placed the Wilson Island school land and other Nebraska-owned real estate on the Iowa side of the river.

He said members of the Nebraska Boundary Commission will be informed of the locations of Nebraska school land along the Missouri River "so that property belonging to the school children in the state of Nebraska will not be given to the state of Iowa."

Humphrey's Oct. 18 Visit To State Cancelled

Omaha (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey's last appearance in the midlands before the election will be at the Nebraska Cornpicking Contest Oct. 4 it was announced Tuesday.

Station WOW, WOW-TV, cosponsors of the annual event, said the vice president's office in Washington has advised that because President Johnson plans to be in Manila for seven-nation chiefs of state conference Oct. 18, Humphrey must remain in Washington at that time. This would cancel his planned Oct. 18 visit to Nebraska.

The announcement said Humphrey will arrive at the Lincoln airport by jet aircraft about 9:30 a.m. Oct. 4 and travel in a motorcade to Utica, arriving about 10:16 a.m. He will speak at the corn picking contest site on the William Tomes farm 3½ miles east of Utica. The Tomes farm is located on U.S. 34.

Humphrey is scheduled to return to Lincoln immediately after his address for a flight to Philadelphia where he has an appearance scheduled later in the day.

With him on the speaker' stand will be Gov. Frank Morrison, Rep. Clair Callan, Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen and Democratic national committeeman Marvin Werve.

In the afternoon Republicans will have their chance to exhort the cornpicking contest crowd. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, gubernatorial candidate Norbert Tiemann and Robert V. Denney, who seeks Callan's seat in Congress will be the headliners.

The co-sponsors of the event are WOW, WOW-TV, the University of Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service and this year the Utica Commercial Club, Jaycees, American Legion and the Utica Grange.

St. Louis Dentist Elected Society President

Dr. Fred Fabric, of St. Louis, Mo., was elected President of the Midwestern Society of Orthodontists at their annual meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Dr. Fabric said that during his term as president he will try to fulfill the purpose of the society in providing "more orthodonics, better educated orthodonics, for more peple."

Nearly 500 orthodontists from eight states attended the convention at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Dr. Karl von der Heydt, newly elected secretary-treasurer, said that one of the major purposes of the meeting was educational. Von der Heydt was particularly impressed with the new system of audio-visual educational units which were on display for the first time.

"These machines can be taken into the home of the doctors and their patients, and the tapes can be translated for better international cooperation among orthodontists," Dr. Von der Heydt said.

Other officers elected Tuesday: Dr. Raymond C. Thurow, Madison, Wis. president-elect; Dr. William Olin, Iowa City, Iowa, vice president; Earl E. Shepard, director to American Association of Orthodontists, Silas J. Kloehn, alternate director to A.A.O., and Dr. Charles R. Baker, sectional editor.

The meeting was formally adjourned Tuesday afternoon, but educational lectures will continue at the Nebraska Center Wednesday.

"I think this is the best meeting we've ever had," commented Dr. Fabric, "the people here in Lincoln are really friendly."

'Hot Line' Denied

Karachi, Pakistan (AP) — An official Pakistani source hotly denounced a report published in India that a hot line link — like the Washington-Moscow emergency hookup—exists between the army chiefs of India and Pakistan. "Crude propaganda," he called it.

Humphrey's Oct. 18 Visit To State Cancelled

Omaha (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey's last appearance in the midlands before the election will be at the Nebraska Cornpicking Contest Oct. 4 it was announced Tuesday.

Station WOW, WOW-TV, cosponsors of the annual event, said the vice president's office in Washington has advised that because President Johnson plans to be in Manila for seven-nation chiefs of state conference Oct. 18, Humphrey must remain in Washington at that time. This would cancel his planned Oct. 18 visit to Nebraska.

The announcement said Humphrey will arrive at the Lincoln airport by jet aircraft about 9:30 a.m. Oct. 4 and travel in a motorcade to Utica, arriving about 10:16 a.m. He will speak at the corn picking contest site on the William Tomes farm 3½ miles east of Utica. The Tomes farm is located on U.S. 34.

Humphrey is scheduled to return to Lincoln immediately after his address for a flight to Philadelphia where he has an appearance scheduled later in the day.

With him on the speaker' stand will be Gov. Frank Morrison, Rep. Clair Callan, Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen and Democratic national committeeman Marvin Werve.

In the afternoon Republicans will have their chance to exhort the cornpicking contest crowd. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, gubernatorial candidate Norbert Tiemann and Robert V. Denney, who seeks Callan's seat in Congress will be the headliners.

The co-sponsors of the event are WOW, WOW-TV, the University of Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service and this year the Utica Commercial Club, Jaycees, American Legion and the Utica Grange.

St. Louis Dentist Elected Society President

Dr. Fred Fabric, of St. Louis, Mo., was elected President of the Midwestern Society of Orthodontists at their annual meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Dr. Fabric said that during his term as president he will try to fulfill the purpose of the society in providing "more orthodonics, better educated orthodonics, for more peple."

Nearly 500 orthodontists from eight states attended the convention at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Dr. Karl von der Heydt, newly elected secretary-treasurer, said that one of the major purposes of the meeting was educational. Von der Heydt was particularly impressed with the new system of audio-visual educational units which were on display for the first time.

"These machines can be taken into the home of the doctors and their patients, and the tapes can be translated for better international cooperation among orthodontists," Dr. Von der Heydt said.

Other officers elected Tuesday: Dr. Raymond C. Thurow, Madison, Wis. president-elect; Dr. William Olin, Iowa City, Iowa, vice president; Earl E. Shepard, director to American Association of Orthodontists, Silas J. Kloehn, alternate director to A.A.O., and Dr. Charles R. Baker, sectional editor.

The meeting was formally adjourned Tuesday afternoon, but educational lectures will continue at the Nebraska Center Wednesday.

"I think this is the best meeting we've ever had," commented Dr. Fabric, "the people here in Lincoln are really friendly."

New York Is Red Guards' Long-Range Target

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP) — China's Red Guards have formed an international movement to spread the teachings of Mao Tse-tung with the hopes of one day extending their revolution to the streets of New York, dispatches from Peking reported Tuesday.

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, quoted leftist American writer Anna Louise Strong, who lives in China, as saying that the aim of Red Guard leaders is to make the whole world communist. Miss Strong quoted the leaders as expressing belief that the revolutionary posters will one day appear on New York's streets.

The news agency said posters put up on Peking streets listed conditions for becoming an international member as the acknowledgement of Mao as leader of world revolution and that his ideas are the climax of Marxism-Leninism.

Future members of the international Red Guard must be ready to fight for world revolution, work on expansion of their organization and spread Mao's teachings, Tanjug reported.

The 81-year-old Miss Strong, who has the reputation of having access to the highest sources of information, was told by Red Guard leaders that their first duty was to make China "completely Red" and then to help working peoples of other countries "to make the whole world Red," the Tanjug report said.

In another dispatch from Peking, Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Red Guard headquarters has set up an international relations department to popularize Mao's ideas among foreigners and attract them to the ranks of the Red Guards.

In still another dispatch from Peking, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda reported that Chinese laborers and regular Communist Party members are showing increased opposition to the youthful Red Guards.

Chrysler Joins Rollback

Detroit (AP) — Chrysler and Ford rolled back part of their proposed auto price increases Tuesday to better enable them to do battle with General Motors in the 1967 auto market.

The revised price tags on Chrysler and Ford cars, plus GM's original price tags, meant American car buyers would shell out about $485 million more next year if they buy as many cars as they did in the 1966 model year.

The decision by Ford and Chrysler to take a second look at their new price schedules meant a savings of $136.9 million for buyers, compared with originally posted prices and provided they purchase as many Ford and Chrysler cars as last year.

The Chrysler pullback averaged $28 across its entire line, Ford's $41 a car. Ford sold 2.4 million cars in 1966, Chrysler 1.39 million.

Even with the revised figures, the General Motors price increase average of $54 a car still remained lower than its two main competitors.

The refigured Chrysler boost came to an average of $64 while Ford was $66.

Airport Authority Awaits Firm Bids On Base Buildings

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Airport Authority has held recent negotiations with industrial firms over the use of several flight line buildings at Lincoln Air Park West, it was affirmed Tuesday.

At its regular monthly meeting, the authority board agreed that industry names and the amount of annual rental being bargained for should remain undisclosed until firm offers are received and accepted.

Spearheading the local effort to lure tenants for the vacant facility are authority attorney Chauncey Barney and executive director Rolland Harr.

The board formally approved one year lease agreements with two Lincoln firms, J. V. Gunn Enterprises, Inc., and Griswold Seed Co.

The leases, with one-year options to renew, become effective Saturday.

Each firm will locate in a separate building at the north end of the industrial park.

The authority okayed an interim agreement between the city and the Job Corps contractor for the purchase of steam service for heat and hot water at the Job Corps campus.

Management Systems Co. will advance $40,000 to provide temporary operating funds and will purchase all its steam requirements from the city at a price based on allocated costs.

A three-man arbitration board will be established to determine actual charges to be paid by the Job Corps contractor over two five-month periods ending June 30, 1967.

In line with its policy to adopt city personnel procedures, the authority also accepted the employe benefits plan, including participation with authority employes in the Blue Cross-Blue Shield major medical and hospitalization program and group life insurance.

The board accepted the offer of the Insurance Co. of North America for fire and extended coverage for 92 buildings in the air park area.

The $10,000 deductable coverage calls for an annual premium of $30,323 plus an additional $10,000 if the buildings remain vacant for a year.

In other action, the authority board:

—Pledged its support for the merger of Central and Ozark air lines and indicated that a letter of intent would be filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

—Approved a sub-lease of restaurant facilties at the airport terminal building to Compass Room, Inc.

—Approved a lease between the authority and West Central Airlines, Inc., an air taxi service, for lobby space and concourse storage at the terminal.

—Authorized seal coating of the main runway before winter. The project will cost less than $1,000.

SPLASHDOWN COMING UP

Board Fixes Pool Rate For Non-School Use

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Board of Education members Tuesday established rates for use of the public school swimming pools by non-school organizations at the regular board meeting here.

Rates were set according to the number of hours used, type of use and day of week.

Board members also approved an amendment to its administrative handbook requiring that physical examinations for Neighborhood Youth Corps student workers, previously performed at district expense, be completed by a personal physician at the student's own expense or at the City-County Health Clinic.

During the past two years funds for the physical exams had been collected from the federal government as a part of the Neighborhood Youth Corps project, but the government refused to pay the fees for 1966-67, administrative assistant Mrs. Anne Campbell told the board.

The annual report of the Lincoln Schools Athletic Lincoln Schools Athletic Building presented at the school board meeting indicated that some $26,222 had been collected for the payment of principal and interest on the purchase contract of Seacrest Stadium.

In other action Tuesday the board:

—Approved underwriting Lincoln Symphony concerts for public school children for $125 with a $.30 admission price per student.

—Accepted bid of Stephenson School Supply of Lincoln in the amount of $13,175.77 for library furniture in various schools.

—Appointed Curtis Sederburg project supervisor of adult basic education and supervisor of distributive education under the Manpower program.

—Appointed Mrs. Alice Vandenbosch acting assistant principal at Meadow Lane elementary school.

—Appointed Mrs. Kathleen M. Thorson as a school social worker.

HANOI MOVING 6,000 MEN SOUTH MONTHLY

Saigon (AP) — U.S. bombers slashed anew Tuesday at enemy supply routes that intelligence experts said are feeding more North Vietnamese troops than ever before into the jungle war in the South.

An estimate that Hanoi regulars are now moving in at a rate of more than 6,000 a month arose in Saigon even as B52 jet Stratofortresses pounded the old Demilitarized Zone in their 11th strike at that frontier infiltration area since July 31. Smaller planes hit farther north.

U.S. Navy jets pounced on four North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin Tuesday. Pilots reported sinking two and damaging the other two vessels.

In a day of generally light and scattered ground action, South Korean troops drew special attention:

—The Tiger Division, battling communist units in the Phu Cat Mountains near the central coast, announced it has killed 321 and captured 11 in a five-day operation. Korean losses were reported light.

—Four thousand more troops landed to join the White Horse Division, boosting the Korean enrollment in Viet Nam to 36,500.

U.S. intelligence officers told of the rise of enemy forces, accomplished in the face of bombings in the North curtailing transport facilities and battles in the South reported to have cost the Reds about 82,000 men so far this year.

The estimate that North Vietnamese are infiltrating at a rate of more than 6,000 a month was up 1,000 a month from recent reckonings.

In all, the officers said, there are some 178 enemy battalions totalling about 112,500 main force troops — 47,000 North Vietnamese and 65,000 Viet Cong—in South Viet Nam. A year ago U.S. military planners estimated the communists could field and support about 160 battalions of the native communists and their northern allies by the end of 1966.

U.S. jet squadrons flew 121 missions over North Viet Nam Monday in the effort to choke off the movement of both troops and the supplies necessary to sustain them in the field.

Pilots reported they destroyed or damaged 33 cargo barges, 10 trucks and 16 bridges, along with 13 antiaircraft gun emplacements.

A U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing. This was the 387th American plane reported lost over North Viet Nam.

USIA Breaks Policy

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Information Agency (USIA) reversed a long-standing policy by making public a list of 43 books and manuscripts it subsidized for $99,126 as part of its global "propaganda" war.

2 Projects Await OEO Approval

Negotiated contracts for Head Start and Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in the Lincoln Public Schools are only awaiting final approval from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, administrative assistant Mrs. Anne Campbell announced Tuesday.

Both projects are continuations of previous programs established by the schools under the Economic Opportunity Act.

The Head Start contract awaiting approval calls for $155,148 in federal funds and $30,532 in non-federal money for a total $185,680 full-year project for 150 children.

The negotiated contract for the Neighborhood Youth Corps calls for a $270,550 total project, with $231,240 from federal funds and $39,310 from non-federal money.

According to the project proposals, the two programs should start Oct. 3 if final approval is received, according to Mrs. Campbell.

The Office of Economic Opportunity granted the school district permission to retain its professional personnel in Head Start and NYC, although no children can be recruited for Head Start and no students can be hired to work in NYC until projects are approved, she said.

U.S. Viet Nam Policy Backer Wins Runoff

New York (AP) — Rep. Leonard Farbstein, a backer of the administration policy in Viet Nam, won an apparent narrow victory Tuesday night over a policy critic in the rerun of a Manhattan Democratic congressional primary.

The final unofficial tally in Manhattan's 19th Congressional District gave Farbstein a 17,080-16,151 edge over City Councilman Theodore Weiss, a severe critic of the Johnson policy in Viet Nam.

Farbstein took an early two-to-one lead in the race, but by the halfway mark his edge had dwindled considerably.

Weiss campaigned as a critic of American bombing of North Viet Nam and favors negotiation with the Viet Cong.

But three months of war and politics had so muddled things that the outcome might not be a true clue to how people feel about the war.

Girl Wouldn't Pose In Nude; Friend Slain

New York (UPI) — A 35-year-old amateur photographer was charged with murder Tuesday in the slaying of a young Vermont man after the victim's girl friend refused to pose in the nude.

The suspect was identified by police as Fred Gales of New York City.

According to police, Gales met the victim, Ernest Kall, 23, of Brattleboro, Vt., and Kall's girl friend, Patricia Burns, 22, in Washington Square Park in Greenwich Village Monday evening. Police said Kall and Miss Burns both lived in the same apartment building in Manhattan.

After chatting in the park and spending some time in a Greenwich Village tavern, the three went to Gales' apartment where police said he offered Kall $25 to have the girl pose in the nude. Kall refused.

Detectives said Gales later produced a gun and made the proposition again. When Kall refused, Gales allegedly shot him in the head.

Airport Authority Awaits Firm Bids On Base Buildings

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Airport Authority has held recent negotiations with industrial firms over the use of several flight line buildings at Lincoln Air Park West, it was affirmed Tuesday.

At its regular monthly meeting, the authority board agreed that industry names and the amount of annual rental being bargained for should remain undisclosed until firm offers are received and accepted.

Spearheading the local effort to lure tenants for the vacant facility are authority attorney Chauncey Barney and executive director Rolland Harr.

The board formally approved one year lease agreements with two Lincoln firms, J. V. Gunn Enterprises, Inc., and Griswold Seed Co.

The leases, with one-year options to renew, become effective Saturday.

Each firm will locate in a separate building at the north end of the industrial park.

The authority okayed an interim agreement between the city and the Job Corps contractor for the purchase of steam service for heat and hot water at the Job Corps campus.

Management Systems Co. will advance $40,000 to provide temporary operating funds and will purchase all its steam requirements from the city at a price based on allocated costs.

A three-man arbitration board will be established to determine actual charges to be paid by the Job Corps contractor over two five-month periods ending June 30, 1967.

In line with its policy to adopt city personnel procedures, the authority also accepted the employe benefits plan, including participation with authority employes in the Blue Cross-Blue Shield major medical and hospitalization program and group life insurance.

The board accepted the offer of the Insurance Co. of North America for fire and extended coverage for 92 buildings in the air park area.

The $10,000 deductable coverage calls for an annual premium of $30,323 plus an additional $10,000 if the buildings remain vacant for a year.

In other action, the authority board:

—Pledged its support for the merger of Central and Ozark air lines and indicated that a letter of intent would be filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

—Approved a sub-lease of restaurant facilities at the airport terminal building to Compass Room, Inc.

—Approved a lease between the authority and West Central Airlines, Inc., an air taxi service, for lobby space and concourse storage at the terminal.

—Authorized seal coating of the main runway before winter. The project will cost less than $1,000.

Board Fixes Pool Rate For Non-School Use

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Board of Education members Tuesday established rates for use of the public school swimming pools by non-school organizations at the regular board meeting here.

Rates were set according to the number of hours used, type of use and day of week.

Board members also approved an amendment to its administrative handbook requiring that physical examinations for Neighborhood Youth Corps student workers, previously performed at district expense, be completed by a personal physician at the student's own expense or at the City-County Health Clinic.

During the past two years funds for the physical exams had been collected from the federal government as a part of the Neighborhood Youth Corps project, but the government refused to pay the fees for 1966-67, administrative assistant Mrs. Anne Campbell told the board.

The annual report of the Lincoln Schools Athletic Lincoln Schools Athletic Building presented at the school board meeting indicated that some $26,222 had been collected for the payment of principal and interest on the purchase contract of Seacrest Stadium.

In other action Tuesday the board:

—Approved underwriting Lincoln Symphony concerts for public school children for $125 with a $.30 admission price per student.

—Accepted bid of Stephenson School Supply of Lincoln in the amount of $13,175.77 for library furniture in various schools

—Appointed Curtis Sederburg project supervisor of adult basic education and supervisor of distributive education under the Manpower program

—Appointed Mrs Alice Vandenbosch acting assistant principal at Meadow Lane elementary school

—Appointed Mrs Kathleen M. Thorson as a school social worker.

HANOI MOVING 6,000 MEN SOUTH MONTHLY

Saigon (AP) — U.S. bombers slashed anew Tuesday at enemy supply routes that intelligence experts said are feeding more North Vietnamese troops than ever before into the jungle war in the South.

An estimate that Hanoi regulars are now moving in at a rate of more than 6,000 a month arose in Saigon even as B52 jet Stratofortresses pounded the old Demilitarized Zone in their 11th strike at that frontier infiltration area since July 31. Smaller planes hit farther north.

U.S. Navy jets pounced on four North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin Tuesday. Pilots reported sinking two and damaging the other two vessels.

In a day of generally light and scattered ground action, South Korean troops drew special attention:

—The Tiger Division, battling communist units in the Phu Cat Mountains near the central coast, announced it has killed 321 and captured 11 in a five-day operation. Korean losses were reported light.

—Four thousand more troops landed to join the White Horse Division, boosting the Korean enrollment in Viet Nam to 36,500.

U.S. intelligence officers told of the rise of enemy forces, accomplished in the face of bombings in the North curtailing transport facilities and battles in the South reported to have cost the Reds about 52,000 men so far this year.

The estimate that North Vietnamese are infiltrating at a rate of more than 6,000 a month was up 1,000 a month from recent reckonings.

In all, the officers said, there are some 178 enemy battalions totalling about 112,500 main force troops — 47,000 North Vietnamese and 65,000 Viet Cong—in South Viet Nam. A year ago U.S. military planners estimated the communists could field and support about 160 battalions of the native communists and their northern allies by the end of 1966.

U.S. jet squadrons flew 121 missions over North Viet Nam Monday in the effort to choke off the movement of both troops and the supplies necessary to sustain them in the field.

Pilots reported they destroyed or damaged 33 cargo barges, 10 trucks and 16 bridges, along with 13 antiaircraft gun emplacements.

A U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing. This was the 387th American plane reported lost over North Viet Nam.

USIA Breaks Policy

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Information Agency (USIA) reversed a long-standing policy by making public a list of 43 books and manuscripts it subsidized for $99,126 as part of its global "propaganda" war.

2 Projects Await OEO Approval

Negotiated contracts for Head Start and Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in the Lincoln Public Schools are only awaiting final approval from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, administrative assistant Mrs. Anne Campbell announced Tuesday.

Both projects are continuations of previous programs established by the schools under the Economic Opportunity Act.

The Head Start contract awaiting approval calls for $155,148 in federal funds and $30,532 in non-federal money for a total $185,680 full-year project for 150 children.

The negotiated contract for the Neighborhood Youth Corps calls for a $270,550 total project, with $231,240 from federal funds and $39,310 from non-federal money.

According to the project proposals, the two programs should start Oct. 3 if final approval is received, according to Mrs. Campbell.

The Office of Economic Opportunity granted the school district permission to retain its professional personnel in Head Start and NYC, although no children can be recruited for Head Start and no students can be hired to work in NYC until projects are approved, she said.

U.S. Viet Nam Policy Backer Wins Runoff

New York (AP) — Rep. Leonard Farbstein, a backer of the administration policy in Viet Nam, won an apparent narrow victory Tuesday night over a policy critic in the rerun of a Manhattan Democratic congressional primary.

The final unofficial tally in Manhattan's 19th Congressional District gave Farbstein a 17,080-16,151 edge over City Councilman Theodore Weiss, a severe critic of the Johnson policy in Viet Nam.

Farbstein took an early two-to-one lead in the race, but by the halfway mark his edge had dwindled considerably.

Weiss campaigned as a critic of American bombing of North Viet Nam and favors negotiation with the Viet Cong.

But three months of war and politics had so muddled things that the outcome might not be a true clue to how people feel about the war.

Girl Wouldn't Pose In Nude; Friend Slain

New York (UPI) — A 35-year-old amateur photographer was charged with murder Tuesday in the slaying of a young Vermont man after the victim's girl friend refused to pose in the nude.

The suspect was identified by police as Fred Gales of New York City.

According to police, Gales met the victim, Ernest Kall, 23, of Brattleboro, Vt., and Kall's girl friend, Patricia Burns, 22, in Washington Square Park in Greenwich Village Monday evening. Police said Kall and Miss Burns both lived in the same apartment building in Manhattan.

After chatting in the park and spending some time in a Greenwich Village tavern, the three went to Gales' apartment where police said he offered Kall $25 to have the girl pose in the nude. Kall refused.

Detectives said Gales later produced a gun and made the proposition again. When Kall refused, Gales allegedly shot him in the head.

Halfway Houses Urged For Juvenile Offenders

By United Press International

A State Welfare Department official announced Tuesday the 1967 Legislature will be asked to appropriate $125,000 for the establishment of halfway houses for juvenile delinquents.

Allen E. McElravy said the project — the first of its type in Nebraska — would include foster parent care for 36 wayward boys and girls during the next biennium.

The plan was the outgrowth of a special group appointed from the Governor's Institutions Advisory Committee, which toured similar programs in Wisconsin and Michigan.

McElravy said Omaha Senators Edward Danner and Harold T. Moylan accompanied the inspection and have agreed to sponsor the measure in the Unicameral.

The Nebraska program, he said, calls for placing youths between 12 and 18 years of age in private group homes which will be reimbursed from state money.

McElravy said children who would profit more from a home-like atmosphere would be assigned to the homes, rather than being sent to the boys and girls training schools.

Before Parole

Likewise, youths who have served time at either institution would be sent to the group homes prior to being set free on parole, if this would further their rehabilitation.

McElravy said the halfway house concept still permits local probation officers to keep in touch with the delinquents.

He said the houses would allow the often overcrowded training schools to reduce their inmate populations.

McElravy said youths will be selected from juvenile court records and probation officer recommendations for the program.

Each home will receive $115 a month to cover medical and clothing expenses and room and board.

Lower Cost

McElravy said under this approach, the average daily cost of sending a youth to a halfway house will be $4.84, compared to the $6.49 a day it now costs to keep one at a training school.

He said there will probably be four group homes initially designated for the foster parent care.

State Institutions Director George Morris will include the appropriation request in his budget, McElravy said.

Morris said the establishment of the halfway homes approach to juvenile delinquency is overdue in Nebraska.

He said the homes will act as buffers between the training schools and society. They will help screen out those youths who are not hard-core delinquents and in need of stricter supervision at the schools.

Location Change Asked By Bank

State Banking Director Byron Dunn reported Tuesday an application has been filed seeking authority to change the location of the Bank of Dixon County in Ponca.

He said Bank President F. R. Kingsbury of Ponca asked for authority to move the bank to a new building in the northeast Nebraska community.

Dunn will hold a public hearing on the application if requested to do so.

Re-examination Of Drivers, Car Inspections Backed

The Nebraska Safety Council announced Tuesday it will recommend the next Legislature enact driver re-examination and motor vehicle inspection laws.

The council said drivers should be required to appear before a representative of the Department of Motor Vehicles every four years to determine physical capacity and adequacy of knowledge of rules of the road.

It suggested vehicles be inspected annually at state-approved but privately-owned stations.

The recommendations were two of several to come out of a legislative workshop on traffic safety at the Nebraska Center last spring.

Other suggestions:

—Establish 18 as the minimum age limit for the issuance of a driver's license except to an applicant 16 and over who has passed an approved driver education course.

—Establish a program of driver re-training for those whose driving records indicate the need for such training.

—Greater uniformity with the motor vehicle laws of other states by utilizing recommendations from a Legislative Council study.

—Provide that penalties for major traffic violations be more severe with the second and third offense and also that attendance at a driver improvement or re-training school may be required by a court in lieu of the penalty.

SANTA is getting help from Zonta

Though it may be hard to believe, a hasty count has revealed there are only 75 more shopping days until Christmas — and taking this warning to heart are the members of the Zonta Club of Lincoln who met Monday evening for a busy "Operation Shop Early" session.

However, the members were not concerned with each other's prospects for a happy Christmas but for the American servicemen in Viet Nam for whom gifts have been purchased and packaged for shipment.

Busy filling the red and green "Santa Claus" bags with such gifts as pens, notepaper, lighters, puzzles and cards, are (from the left) Mrs. Ed Dittmer, Mrs. Ray Frohn, Mrs. Jack Timmons, Mrs. John McArthur (standing) and Mrs. Duane Chamberlain. The program is sponsored by the American Red Cross.

Incidentally, Mrs. Timmons and Mrs. Chamberlain were welcomed as new members of the club.

Annual Meeting

The program theme will be, "Nature's Bounty", when the members of the Federated Garden Clubs of Nebraska meet in Lincoln next Monday and Tuesday for their third annual convention.

Mrs. Michael F. Edwards of Lincoln, state president, will preside at the two-day meeting which will feature addresses by Mrs. Fred Mauntal of Washington, Mo., president of the National Council of State Garden Clubs; Mrs. Lyle Johnsrud of Ft. Benton, Mont., director of the federation's Rocky Mountain Region; and Miss Mary Louise Riede of Denver, director of the U.S. Forest Service women's activities.

The convention agenda also will include the presentation of Sears Roebuck civic development awards by Richard Stewart, public relations director for the company; an illustrated lecture on bird life in the midwest by Mr. and Mrs. Fitzhugh L. Diggs of Hamburg, Iowa; and a talk by Leslie R. Sjulin of Interstate Nurseries, Hamburg.

The convention will conclude Tuesday afternoon with a tea at the Governor's Mansion honoring newly-elected officers, state chairmen and convention guests.

Convention chairman is Mrs. Harry Greathouse of Dix.

THE 'progressive party' in suburbia means food

Political activity always has been a hot subject, and for the 12 suburban ladies in the news this morning there was nothing 'warmed-over' about their progressive activities last weekend.

COTNER TERRACE

We're not saying that the entire suburban population is radically left-wing, but there was a terrifically successful progressive dinner held Saturday evening.

Hostesses in charge of the movement were all members of the Foreign Dinner Club which is beginning a new season. The 12 ladies decided they needed some variety and voted for a traveling dinner instead of the usual foreign cuisine.

First stop of the evening was at the home of Mrs. Anna Amon and her daughter Frances. Mrs. Amon and Miss Amon, together with Mrs. Matie Hogelin and Miss Lois Hogelin, served liberal portions of salad and soup to their guests.

In charge of the main course, Mrs. Gladys Raider produced a chicken in every pot when she and her co-hostesses prepared a chicken casserole with all of the trimmings. Hostesses included Mrs. Avis Van Edgen, Miss Marie Regier and Miss Mary Smith.

The final stage of the progressive movement was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Harral in Cotner Terrace. Hostess and co-hostess, Miss Mary McBride, served an apple pie and ice cream dessert and called the evening to a close at 8:30 o'clock.

Besides being busy in the kitchens of suburbia, residents were also active in all the doorways welcoming visitors. Greeting guests on Saturday was the duty of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kruse and family.

In town for the Band Day festivities were Mrs. Kruse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lanz of Bassett, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of Burwell. The guest foursome left Tuesday morning for their homes.

This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Mel Montgomery will be landing at the Denver, Colo. airfield to start a week of visiting in the city and its suburbs. The Lincoln residents will be the guests of their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds and Miss Jean Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Ahlschwede's Monday evening visitor certainly traveled far for an overnight visit.

Mr. Tesar is employed in Turkey as a U.S. government engineer.

Everyone tells me how lucky I am to have this jewel.

Now, here's the rub: Bruce (I'll call him) was a bachelor, living with his mother when I, married him. I agreed to keep my job until we could afford a nice home. Now, a year later, I have bought all the groceries and paid the rent. Bruce doesn't have one suit of clothes at our apartment. He shaves and showers at his mother's keeps everything there except his socks and underwear. He even gets his mail there.

I have never seen a bank statement, a paycheck, or a canceled check. All his personal papers and records are locked up in a strong box at his mother's. When I mention these things to him he just smiles. If I pursue it further he walks away and ignores me. The newspaper is the one thing he buys, and he reads your column, so please print this, and tell me what to do.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Did you MARRY this little boy, or adopt him! Tell your good-natured "jewel" that he is about to be polished off unless he faces the responsibilities of marriage like a man. And if he doesn't, send his socks and underwear over to his mother's, and add his walking papers to the rest of his "records."

DEAR ABBY: I know a girl who is very nice, but she sure could use some tips concerning the betterment of her looks. She wears no make-up of any kind and she doesn't do a thing with her hair. It is an absolute mess. She probably wonders why she doesn't appeal to any of the guys.

My problem is how to become friendlier with her so I can help her improve her looks without her thinking I want to get closer to her because of her money and new car. I just can't sit by and watch her miss out on all the fun.

WANTS TO HELP

DEAR WANTS, Tell her, in a nice way. If she resents it, your friendship is over. If not, you're in business.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: How does a girl know when a boy really LOVES her?

LISA

DEAR LISA: He expresses a desire to make her his exclusive permanent property. But he doesn't expect to take possession until they both sign the contract and he can present her with the keys to his heart—on a ring!

Exhibit

The second annual art exhibit sponsored by the Association of Nebraska Art Clubs will be held at McCook city auditorium, Oct. 2 through Oct. 8.

The exhibit, which will include more than 200 paintings, collages, drawings and sculptures, will be opened officially on Saturday at the association's annual business meeting.

Summer Beauty

It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion against harsh sun rays and will give the skin a milky bloom even on the hottest days. Use your lemon Jelvyn daily to refine and tone.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

How should South play this hand at five diamonds doubled? Of course, he does not see the opponents' cards, and all he can do at the start is rely on the bidding and the opening lead.

There is a raft of information contained in the bidding. There is no good reason to disbelieve West's cuebid in diamonds, and declarer should therefore assume that West is actually void.

He should also credit West with all the high cards missing, since the cuebid announces a very powerful hand.

So, while South does not see the defenders' hands, he is nevertheless in reasonable position to approximate their holdings, and all he has to do is take advantage of the knowledge furnished by the bidding.

In line with this, South permits West to win the opening lead of the king of hearts. This is an essential part of the overall plan to make the contract.

Let's assume that West continues with a heart. South takes it with the ace and leads the king of clubs! This play, also, is important to the success of the contract.

West wins it with the ace and can do no better than return a spade. Dummy wins and South next ruffs a spade. From then on, the sailing is smooth. South ruffs three clubs in dummy, exiting each time by ruffing a spade.

As a result of the crossruff, declarer makes 11 tricks. The early play of ducking the king of hearts and then leading the king of clubs paves the way to a successful crossruff.

If South wins the opening heart lead, he can be defeated. West could put East on lead later with a heart to return a trump and interfere with the crossruff. Similarly, if declarer leads a low club instead of the king, East can win it and return a trump to beat the contract one trick.

Now, a year later, I have bought all the groceries and paid the rent. Bruce doesn't have one suit of clothes at our apartment. He shaves and showers at his mother's keeps everything there except his socks and underwear. He even gets his mail there.

I have never seen a bank statement, a paycheck, or a canceled check. All his personal papers and records are locked up in a strong box at his mother's. When I mention these things to him he just smiles. If I pursue it further he walks away and ignores me. The newspaper is the one thing he buys, and he reads your column, so please print this, and tell me what to do.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Did you MARRY this little boy, or adopt him! Tell your good-natured "jewel" that he is about to be polished off unless he faces the responsibilities of marriage like a man. And if he doesn't, send his socks and underwear over to his mother's, and add his walking papers to the rest of his "records."

DEAR ABBY: I know a girl who is very nice, but she sure could use some tips concerning the betterment of her looks. She wears no make-up of any kind and she doesn't do a thing with her hair. It is an absolute mess. She probably wonders why she doesn't appeal to any of the guys.

My problem is how to become friendlier with her so I can help her improve her looks without her thinking I want to get closer to her because of her money and new car. I just can't sit by and watch her miss out on all the fun.

WANTS TO HELP

DEAR WANTS, Tell her, in a nice way. If she resents it, your friendship is over. If not, you're in business.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: How does a girl know when a boy really LOVES her?

LISA

DEAR LISA: He expresses a desire to make her his exclusive permanent property. But he doesn't expect to take possession until they both sign the contract and he can present her with the keys to his heart—on a ring!

Exhibit

The second annual art exhibit sponsored by the Association of Nebraska Art Clubs will be held at McCook city auditorium, Oct. 2 through Oct. 8.

The exhibit, which will include more than 200 paintings, collages, drawings and sculptures, will be opened officially on Saturday at the association's annual business meeting.

Summer Beauty

It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion against harsh sun rays and will give the skin a milky bloom even on the hottest days. Use your lemon Jelvyn daily to refine and tone.

Denney Hits 'One Man Rule'

First District Republican congressional candidate Robert V. Denney said Tuesday the "one man rule" of President Johnson is the basic cause of the country's economic problems.

Denney said the President is aided and abetted by congressmen such as Denney's current opponent, Rep. Clair Callan.

"My opponent, according to Congressional Quarterly, has blindly followed the President 93.6% of the time and is one of the foremost followers among the freshmen congressmen," Denney said.

Governor Backs Sales-Income Tax, School Aid

By JOHN ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said Tuesday he will recommend that the 1967 Legislature enact a combination state sales-income tax system with a portion of the revenue allocated to public schools.

He said such a legislative package would help solve Nebraska's "basic tax problem" — financing of local schools.

"State aid to education is necessary to eliminate the great inequities that exist between school districts with reference to programming and taxation," the governor said, "and a combination sales-income tax is needed to finance a state-aid system."

He said the legislative recommendations are consistent with the position he has taken for several years.

"I have opposed a general sales or income tax for the support of state government alone because the state budget is a small percentage of the total tax burden," he said. "We need to solve the state's basic tax problem, and that is financing our local school systems."

He commented after his Advisory Committee on Education recommended that the governor personally sponsor legislation to establish a combination tax and state-aid program.

Gov. Morrison said he will make recommendations to the next Legislature but the next governor, Democrat Philip C. Sorensen or Republican Norbert T. Tiemann, will have the responsibility of sponsoring bills.

Gov. Morrison said state financial assistance to school districts is "the only alternative" if educational opportunities for Nebraska children are to be equalized.

"Federal funds aren't an alternative because they're not extensive enough," he said. "Federal programs should only be supplemental to state programs.

"Nebraska can't sit around and wait for the federal government to equalize the tax burdens and programs between districts. The state must take the initiative."

The governor said he opposes his advisory committee's recommendation that if a state-aid system is adopted, the Legislature should require mandatory school district reorganization by July 1, 1970.

"I think a state-aid program working in cooperaton with local people can accomplish desirable redistricting without the Legislature imposing arbitrary and mandatory school boundaries," he said.

Across the English countryside, hey-ho! The steering wheel is on the right. We drive on the left of the road. And heaven knows where the curb is — "watch out!"

I left my only tie on the door knob of the last hotel — I was determined to travel light. I bought a new one in Stratford-on-Avon, home of the Bard.

The back seat is full of children. "I have to go to the bathroom." "Shut up!"

We washed our clothes at a laundromat in Cambridge — "45 minute cycle and two shillings the wash, luv." Where did I get my education? I went to Cambridge, luv.

The wind blows through the British isles. The fields are apple-green. There's autumn chill in the air, and I had a drink last night in a pub that opened its doors in 1352.

The pound has firmed up after a shaky time. But the new British austerity is raising hob. British Motor Corporation will lay off about 5000 workmen.

Six hundred young doctors rushed down to take examinations allowing them to go to America and take out tonsils at a better rate than England gives them under the Health Plan.

It is not the pay alone. "It's the bloody paperwork one must do to collect from the government," said one doctor. "It's filling in forms when one should be looking after the patients."

☆ ☆ ☆

The police aren't too happy either. Canada asked for 200 police recruits. They got applications from 1200 of England's finest.

"The starting pay offered was $3375 per annum," says a worried police official. "Here it's $1960, and it takes nine years to rise to $3000. You can't blame our chaps."

The recent shooting of three unarmed police hasn't helped.

"Summer's gone I'm afraid," said the barmaid in the whitewashed pub where we stopped for lunch.

Country bars in England are usually served by women. Some of them young. Some of them grandmothers. All of them talkative.

"Talking to the customers is part of the show," she said. "It makes them feel at home, you might say."

Generally, there's an English rule to keep to oneself. On commute trains to London, the man in the bowler hat seats himself and disappears (like his fellow passengers) behind the unfolded "Times."

Recently a lady passenger turned to the man beside her and asked:

"What time is it?"

The passenger leaped up in fury. Jerked the emergency stop cord. And leaped off the train.

When taken in charge by the police, he explained: "I couldn't stand her damned nattering!" And all over England, gentlemen nodded in their quiet and sacred clubs.

Barmaids are a different matter.

The English breakfast is a wonderful thing. Juice and porridge. Bacon and eggs.

The toast is served in a silvered rack. Each piece is air-conditioned. Thereby it comes cold as a pawnbroker's heart. The English butter it and cover it with marmalade and love it that way.

I bathe this morning in a tub as big as the Ritz. I can stretch out full length. Tubs come with wire racks across them. Two places for soap. The center I don't know what for — the wire is so far apart you could drop a basketball through.

There's a long-handled brush. To wash your back with, ducks.

Without cold toast breakfasts and such tub equipment, the sun would soon set on the British Empire.

Governor Backs Sales-Income Tax, School Aid

By JOHN ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said Tuesday he will recommend that the 1967 Legislature enact a combination state sales-income tax system with a portion of the revenue allocated to public schools.

He said such a legislative package would help solve Nebraska's "basic tax problem" — financing of local schools.

"State aid to education is necessary to eliminate the great inequities that exist between school districts with reference to programming and taxation," the governor said. "and a combination sales-income tax is needed to finance a state-aid system."

He said the legislative recommendations are consistent with the position he has taken for several years.

"I have opposed a general sales or income tax for the support of state government alone because the state budget is a small percentage of the total tax burden," he said. "We need to solve the state's basic tax problem, and that is financing our local school systems."

He commented after his Advisory Committee on Education recommended that the governor personally sponsor legislation to establish a combination tax and state-aid program.

More Funds Asked For Loup Flood Control

By Associated Press

Gov. Frank Morrison asked President Johnson Tuesday to allocate an additional $345,000 in federal funds to help finance repair of public facilities damaged by the Loup River Basin flood last month.

He also requested that Sherman County be included in the designated disaster area already including Boone, Colfax, Greeley, Howard, Nance, Platte and Valley counties.

The north central Nebraska region was struck by floods on Aug. 12-13 when water ran over the banks of the Loup and Cedar Rivers.

President Johnson originally set aside $500,000 for repair of public facilities, but Gov. Morrison said the public repair work eligible for federal aid now is estimated to be $845,000.

The governor urged that $100,000 of the total be earmarked for repairing power facilities at Spalding and that a federal agency be designated to coordinate repair activities in the village because of the magnitude of the damage.

The State Office of Emergency Planning said it now estimates that the flood caused a total of about $13.5 million in damage, approximately $4 million of it involving public facilties.

Many federal programs have been made available to assist recovery activities.

The governor recommended that $257,000 of the federal funds be set aside to finance repairs of facilities of the Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District.

He said Greeley and Boone counties should receive $185,000 and $135,000 respectively, primarily to finance repair work on the counties' road and bridge systems.

Other recommended allotments included: Colfax County $4,000, Howard County $15,000, Nance County $40,000, Platte County $2,000, Sherman County $4,000, Valley County $3,000, Cedar Rapids $9,000, Columbus $25,000, Fullerton $30,000, Genoa $15,000, Primrose $5,000, St. Edward $3,000, Wolbach $3,000 and Spaulding $10,000 in addition to the $100,000 for power facilities repair.

More Funds Asked For Loup Flood Control

By Associated Press

Gov. Frank Morrison asked President Johnson Tuesday to allocate an additional $345,000 in federal funds to help finance repair of public facilities damaged by the Loup River Basin flood last month.

He also requested that Sherman County be included in the designated disaster area already including Boone, Colfax, Greeley, Howard, Nance, Platte and Valley counties.

The north central Nebraska region was struck by floods on Aug. 12-13 when water ran over the banks of the Loup and Cedar Rivers.

President Johnson originally set aside $500,000 for repair of public facilities, but Gov. Morrison said the public repair work eligible for federal aid now is estimated to be $845,000.

The governor urged that $100,000 of the total be earmarked for repairing power facilities at Spalding and that a federal agency be designated to coordinate repair activities in the village because of the magnitude of the damage.

The State Office of Emergency Planning said it now estimates that the flood caused a total of about $13.5 million in damage, approximately $4 million of it involving public facilities.

Many federal programs have been made available to assist recovery activities.

The governor recommended that $257,000 of the federal funds be set aside to finance repairs of facilities of the Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District.

He said Greeley and Boone counties should receive $185,000 and $135,000 respectively, primarily to finance repair work on the counties' road and bridge systems.

Other recommended allotments included: Colfax County $4,000, Howard County $15,000, Nance County $40,000, Platte County $2,000, Sherman County $4,000, Valley County $3,000, Cedar Rapids $9,000, Columbus $25,000, Fullerton $30,000, Genoa $15,000, Primrose $5,000, St. Edward $3,000, Wolbach $3,000 and Spaulding $10,000 in addition to the $100,000 for power facilities repair.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, substract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Alumni Status In Doubt

Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions has likely by this time had his alumni card revoked by the University of Iowa as the result of several blunt statements made by the pro gridder in the current issue of Sport Magazine.

"I hated the University of Iowa," the former Hawkeye gridder says. "I hated the coaches, and I hated college football with a passion.

"I wouldn't walk across the street to see a college game — all those poor guys out there killing themselves for nothing. Anyone who thinks it's glamorous ought to go out there and get the hell beat out of him like I do every Sunday, and then he'll see how glamorous it is.

"I accept the contact today because it pays me good money."

Karras also claims one has to be a sadist to be a pro football lineman. "If I said to you, I don't enjoy ripping Bart Starr's head off, I'd be lying to you," he explains. "Knocking down an offensive lineman and breaking his head open is something I enjoy."

And while Karras isn't likely to have made any friends over the story, he comes up with one idea that deserves applause. Speaking of the opinions expressed by players on the television show, Countdown to Kickoff, Karras says:

"Just once I'd like to hear a guy say, 'I had a good game because I was a lot better than the guy I played against and I knocked the hell out of him."

So would we!

Sugar Bowl Enticer

The New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsors of the Sugar Bowl, have produced a 26-minute color film to promote their football bowl game.

The film, entitled, "It Happened On the Way to the Sugar Bowl," shows portions of the Missouri-Florida game of the last Sugar Bowl plus showing the two teams being entertained at the Fontainebleau Motor Hotel, Al Hirt's Club, the Playboy Club, the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel, and at Brennan's Restaurant.

"We think this film will help convince teams around the nation that the Sugar Bowl offers them more fun, more excitement, more educational benefits than any other game," Sugar Bowl president Sam Corenswet Jr. says.

Davis Ate Rosey

When the New York Giants No. 1 draft pick, Don Davis, a 6-5½ by 260-pounder from Los Angeles State, reported to the Giant training camp last summer, coach Allie Sherman checked his 345 pounds and hustled him off to Chicago along with coach Rosey Brown for the College All-Stars camp.

Davis was given instructions to trim his 345 pounds to 285 or not to return to the Giants camp and Rosey was supposed to keep tabs on the weight-losing program.

"Day by day," reports Sport Magazine, "Rosey sent glowing telegrams back to the Giant camp indicating that his charge had gotten down to 310 . . . 305 .. .299."

Then the telegrams from Rosey concerning the mammoth rookie with the mammoth appetite stopped coming and the Giants began to worry about their draft choice. Finally the Giants received a final telegram from Chicago reading:

"Davis ate Rosey."

—WORKS ON RUNNING GAME—

Devaney Sends Huskers Through Contact Drill

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney has temporarily junked his coaching theory that says you don't scrimmage once the season starts.

The Husker coach sent his No. 1 units through a scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon, the first time since coming to Nebraska that Devaney has scrimmaged his top units after the opening game.

"We feel we have to take the gamble on getting someone hurt in order to work on our running game," he said in explaining the move. "We don't feel we can improve our offense unless we have them going at full speed against a good defense.

"We also want to see if we've got the best guys playing in the No. 1 spots," he continued. "And scrimmaging is the only way we can really tell what players we should be giving a better chance."

The scrimmage sessions are not filmed, but are held after the end of regular practice giving the coaches a chance to study the players.

"We can have each coach study his particular men and it works almost as well as filming," Devaney explained. "We are going to try to scrimmage the players who don't get in the game on Mondays and Thursdays so we can evaluate them."

Several Husker gridders are battling for spots on the limited travel squad that can make the trip to Iowa State for Saturday's Big Eight opener against the Cyclones.

Among these are Denis Galbraith, Paul Critchlow, Bob Best, Mick Ziegler, Adrian Fiala, Tom Casbeer, Lou Narish and Bob Ahlschwede.

The composition of the Husker travel squad will depend a great deal on the physical condition of defensive tackles Richard Czap and Jim Mc Cord, both of whom are hobbling slightly at mid-week.

"If they are both sound physically, we can get by with taking only three defensive tackles which will allow us to take another man at another spot," Devaney pointed out. "If they are not, then we'll have to take four tackles."

The Husker coach plans to take three quarterbacks and three centers with the choice as to the third quarterback still undecided behind Bob Churchich and Wayne Weber.

"It looks now like we'll take Ahlschwede to do the kicking off," Devaney said Tuesday, "But that could depend on Jerry Patton's ankle. At the present, though, it doesn't appear that Patton's ankle will permit him to kick."

Cowboys' Practice Is 'Unenthusiastic'

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)— Oklahoma State's Cowboys went through limited contact Tuesday and football coach Phil Cutchin said "I'm glad we're not playing anybody today."

"We had a real unenthusiastic practice," Cutchin said, "and I don't know the reason either."

Amateurs Card 71s In Pro-Senior

Two amateurs, Walt Smola and Mark Fowler, both of Omaha, carded the low rounds with 71s in a pro-senior golf event at Lincoln's Hillcrest Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

The pro-senior was a tune-up for the second annual Nebraska Men's Senior Golf Tournament that gets under way today and ends Friday at Hillcrest.

Smola will be competing in the junior-senior division and will not be eligible over the overall championship, limited to players 55 and over.

Fowler tied for first place with Fred Melchiors in last year's tourney at the end of 54 holes, then lost in a sudden-death playoff.

Jerry Dugan of Omaha Highland Country Club was low pro Tuesday with a one-over-par 73.

The results:

LOW PRO—1. Jerry Dugan, Omaha Highland, 73; 2 (tie) Merle Backlund, Grand Island Riverside, 74, and Bob Popp, Omaha Country Club, 74.

LOW AMATEUR (Scratch)—1. (tie) Walt Smola, Omaha, 71, and Mark Fowler, Omaha, 71; 3. Gene Chadwell, Lincoln, 74.

LOW AMATEUR (Handicap)—1. Jack McCuistion, Lincoln, 64; 2. Bill Harder, Lincoln, 67; 3. Cecil Hatfield, Falls City, 69.

. . . PIRATES RAINED OUT

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers reduced their magic number for clinching the National League pennant to three Tuesday night with a 2-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals while second-place Pittsburgh was rained out of its game at Philadelphia.

Don Drysdale won his fourth straight for the Dodgers and raised his season's record to 13-16 with a four-hitter. The Cardinals managed only four singles against the tall right-hander.

Ron Fairly hit his second home run in as many nights for Los Angeles, connecting against Cardinal starter Ray Washburn in the second inning. It was his 13th homer of the year.

The victory increased Los Angeles' National League lead to three games over the Pirates. Any combination of Dodger victories or Pittsburgh losses totaling three clinches a second straight flag for Los Angeles.

San Francisco kept its slender hopes alive with a 6-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves as Willie Mays drove in four runs with his 36th home run and a single.

The Giants trail Los Angeles by four games with five to play.

Hank Aaron accounted for all the Atlanta runs with his 43rd home run.

Pittsburgh at Philadelphia, Chicago at New York and Houston at Cincinnati were all postponed by rain.

In the American League, New York at Washington and Kansas City at Baltimore were rained out.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 37th homer and Jim Perry pitched a three-hitter as Minnesota downed Cleveland 5-1.

Ken Berry's two-out single scored Tommie Agee with the only run of the game in the ninth inning as the Chicago White Sox nipped Boston 1-0 in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Red Sox, however, closed their season on a winning note, edging the White Sox 2-1 in the nightcap. Tony Conigliaro tripled home one run and scored the other on Don Buford's error.

California downed Detroit 6-2 behind Jim Fregosi's two-run homer and Jose Cardenal's three-run blast.

'Honking Beat' Banned By Buffs

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Long plastic horns with the honking beat will be banned at Colorado's football stadium beginning with the Kansas State game Saturday, Coach Eddie Crowder said Tuesday.

He said he felt the noise was distracting to spectators as well as players. Fans bringing them to the stadium will be asked to leave them outside, he said.

The Buffs, snapping back from a 13-7 win over Baylor ran through light scrimmage Tuesday. The two No. 1 defensive ends, Sam Harris and Bill Fairband, were both on the sidelines with minor injuries.

Lucy Kramer Resigns Post

Lucy Kramer, director of women's sports for the Lincoln City Recreation Department, has submitted her resignation to the department.

"I have enjoyed my associations with the department and I have enjoyed working with the women of the city in the various recreation projects," Mrs. Kramer told The Star in announcing her resignation.

"But the opportunity and salary in another job was too good to pass up," she continued.

Mrs. Kramer left Lincoln Tuesday for Dearborn, Mich., where she will serve as personnel manager of a women's dress shop.

Superintendent of Recreation Robert Dula is currently accepting applications to fill the position.

CU's Harris Wins Big 8 Line Award

By Associated Press

Colorado end Sam Harris, a mean man on the pass rush, is the Big Eight Lineman of the week for his leadership of Colorado's masterful defensive job on Baylor quarterback Terry Southall.

Harris was a narrow choice over Wayne Meylan, Nebraska's 239-pound middle guard who made six tackles for losses and blocked a punt.

Harris, a 6-foot-4, 225-pound senior, went to work early at Waco. With Baylor moving at the Colorado 35 he stormed in, forced a fumble and caught the ball in the air. Later, he rushed Southall, knocked down the pass and intercepted it before it touched the ground. He batted down another pass later.

He made five tackles and the fierce pass rush led to four interceptions. John Bridgers, coach of the 10th-ranked Baylor club said:

"I never had a passer rushed so hard and effectively, and I've never seen so many passes knocked off the passer's hand."

Another Baylor pass was tipped by end Bill Fairband and intercepted.

Of Meylan's nine tackles, six were for losses and four of them after Utah State tied the score in the last half. On three consecutive plays at one stage in Husker erritory he dumped two plays for losses, then put a tremendous rush on the passer and the pass was no good. From that point, Nebraska drove to a leading field goal, 10-7.

Then Meylan blocked a punt at the eight-yard line setting up a TD. Later he blew through the line, got the passer for an eight-yard loss.

"I was using a forearm lift to ward off the blockers," Meylan said. "Blocking a punt is one thing I always wanted to do."

Other line nominees were Bill Powell, Missouri defensive tackle, for his pass rushing and containment of Illinois wide plays; Ed Hall, Oklahoma offensive tackle who graded 80 per cent and blocked the end on a touchdown pass; Bill Wohlford, Kansas middle guard, for his excellent pass rush; Danny Lankas, Kansas State Linebacker, in on 22 tackles and one pass broken up; and Don Stanley, Iowa State center, for his good blocking.

Alumni Status In Doubt

Alex Karras of the Detroit Lions has likely by this time had his alumni card revoked by the University of Iowa as the result of several blunt statements made by the pro gridder in the current issue of Sport Magazine.

"I hated the University of Iowa," the former Hawkeye gridder says. "I hated the coaches, and I hated college football with a passion.

"I wouldn't walk across the street to see a college game — all those poor guys out there killing themselves for nothing. Anyone who thinks it's glamorous ought to go out there and get the hell beat out of him like I do every Sunday, and then he'll see how glamorous it is.

"I accept the contact today because it pays me good money."

Karras also claims one has to be a sadist to be a pro football lineman. "If I said to you, I don't enjoy ripping Bart Starr's head off, I'd be lying to you," he explains. "Knocking down an offensive lineman and breaking his head open is something I enjoy."

And while Karras isn't likely to have made any friends over the story, he comes up with one idea that deserves applause. Speaking of the opinions expressed by players on the television show, Countdown to Kickoff, Karras says:

"Just once I'd like to hear a guy say, 'I had a good game because I was a lot better than the guy I played against and I knocked the hell out of him."

So would we!

Sugar Bowl Enticer

The New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsors of the Sugar Bowl, have produced a 26-minute color film to promote their football bowl game.

The film, entitled, "It Happened On the Way to the Sugar Bowl," shows portions of the Missouri-Florida game of the last Sugar Bowl plus showing the two teams being entertained at the Fontainebleau Motor Hotel, Al Hirt's Club, the Playboy Club, the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel, and at Brennan's Restaurant.

"We think this film will help convince teams around the nation that the Sugar Bowl offers them more fun, more excitement, more educational benefits than any other game," Sugar Bowl president Sam Corenswet Jr. says.

Davis Ate Rosey

When the New York Giants No. 1 draft pick, Don Davis, a 6-5½ by 260-pounder from Los Angeles State, reported to the Giant training camp last summer, coach Allie Sherman checked his 345 pounds and hustled him off to Chicago along with coach Rosey Brown for the College All-Stars camp.

Davis was given instructions to trim his 345 pounds to 285 or not to return to the Giants camp and Rosey was supposed to keep tabs on the weight-losing program.

"Day by day," reports Sport Magazine, "Rosey sent glowing telegrams back to the Giant camp indicating that his charge had gotten down to 310 . . . 305 .. .299."

Then the telegrams from Rosey concerning the mammoth rookie with the mammoth appetite stopped coming and the Giants began to worry about their draft choice. Finally the Giants received a final telegram from Chicago reading:

"Davis ate Rosey."

—WORKS ON RUNNING GAME—

Devaney Sends Huskers Through Contact Drill

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney has temporarily junked his coaching theory that says you don't scrimmage once the season starts.

The Husker coach sent his No. 1 units through a scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon, the first time since coming to Nebraska that Devaney has scrimmaged his top units after the opening game.

"We feel we have to take the gamble on getting someone hurt in order to work on our running game," he said in explaining the move. "We don't feel we can improve our offense unless we have them going at full speed against a good defense.

"We also want to see if we've got the best guys playing in the No. 1 spots," he continued. "And scrimmaging is the only way we can really tell what players we should be giving a better chance."

The scrimmage sessions are not filmed, but are held after the end of regular practice giving the coaches a chance to study the players.

"We can have each coach study his particular men and it works almost as well as filming," Devaney explained. "We are going to try to scrimmage the players who don't get in the game on Mondays and Thursdays so we can evaluate them."

Several Husker gridders are battling for spots on the limited travel squad that can make the trip to Iowa State for Saturday's Big Eight opener against the Cyclones.

Among these are Denis Galbraith, Paul Critchlow, Bob Best, Mick Ziegler, Adrian Fiala, Tom Casbeer, Lou Narish and Bob Ahlschwede.

The composition of the Husker travel squad will depend a great deal on the physical condition of defensive tackles Richard Czap and Jim Mc Cord, both of whom are hobbling slightly at mid-week.

"If they are both sound physically, we can get by with taking only three defensive tackles which will allow us to take another man at another spot," Devaney pointed out. "If they are not, then we'll have to take four tackles."

The Husker coach plans to take three quarterbacks and three centers with the choice as to the third quarterback still undecided behind Bob Churchich and Wayne Weber.

"It looks now like we'll take Ahlschwede to do the kicking off," Devaney said Tuesday, "But that could depend on Jerry Patton's ankle. At the present, though, it doesn't appear that Patton's ankle will permit him to kick."

Cowboys' Practice Is 'Unenthusiastic'

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)— Oklahoma State's Cowboys went through limited contact Tuesday and football coach Phil Cutchin said "I'm glad we're not playing anybody today."

"We had a real unenthusiastic practice," Cutchin said, "and I don't know the reason either."

160-Pounders Leading Big 8

. . . WACHHOLTZ, SHANKLIN

Kansas City, Mo. — This may be the era of the 250-pound muscle men in Big Eight Conference football, but right now a pair of 160-pound "weaklings" aren't getting much sand kicked in their faces.

For openers, take 18 into 238 and you get 13.2. That is what Don Shanklin averaged for Kansas against Arizona every time he wrapped his eager paws around the ball. In addition, the little guy squirted into the end zone twice for the Jayhawks, once on a 69-yard punt return, threw for a third six-pointer, and set up a fourth with a 71-yard run.

Spurting on an equal plane is Nebraska's Larry Wachholtz, the incongruous defensive specialist who put on his offensive clothes long enough to boot a game-changing 39-yard field goal before intercepting a pair of Utah State passes and breaking the game open with a 72-yard punt return for a touchdown.

Earlier, he authored another punt haul for 38 yards to set up the initial Husker scoring sortie and finished the day with a 160-yard tally in seven chances, a 23-yard average—and 10 points. His big punt returning day (five for 133 yards) put him on top in this division and back into the national running for the collegiate title he just missed last year.

Shanklin racked up 104 of his yards in a rushing role—his second straight game over the century mark—to put him at 238 for the year, 50 more than Gale Sayers, who became the all-time Big Eight rushing king, got his first two games for the Jayhawks.

Soph Star Doesn't Awe KSU Coach

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Kansas State's Cornelius Davis, a sophomore fullback, is the nation's second leading rusher. But coach Doug Weaver is taking a conservative viewpoint.

"Let's say I'm happy with his progress," Weaver said Tuesday. "But he's got eight tough ones to go."

Davis is a 198-pound speedster who played both end and halfback at St. Louis, Mo., Beaumont High. Weaver said he recruited him as a halfback.

Weaver said he is "not ready to say tailback Ossie Cain will make it for Colorado." Mike Duncan, a sophomore, is still running at the No. 1 tailback post.

The Wildcat secondary is also in a state of flux. "I'm not sure who will start except for Mitch Borota," Weaver said. "Unfortunately, he can't play all three positions."

Bill Nossek, sophomore quarterback, is still hospitalized with what Weaver described as a "seepage of the lung."

Meysenburg Best Prep Performer

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Bench strength, that ingredient which can make or break a football team, paid off in a big way for David City Aquinas coach Joe McNulty last week.

Marty Meysenburg, who supplied most of it, earns Player of the Week honors for his role in helping Aquinas subdue West Point Central Catholic, 33-19.

The 5-10, 155-pound senior came off the bench in the second quarter to spark the Monarchs as they posted their third straight win.

Marty and the following players will receive recognition for their outstanding play last week:

Chuck Compton, Western — Scored four touchdowns, turned in top defensive effort in 52-14 win over Beaver Crossing.

Max Schmitz, Maywood—Passed for 201 yards, played strong defensive game in 13-6 win over Stapleton.

Jim Uchtman, Humphrey—Accounted for 37 of team's points in 67-14 win over Orchard on six touchdowns and an extra point.

Gail Ortegren, Palmer — Ran for two touchdowns, passed for two more and added two interceptions in 34-7 win over Stromsburg.

Merlyn Bates, Juniata — Grabbed three touchdown passes in 39-0 win over Trumbull.

Terry Vrzal, Newman Grove—Rushed for 188 yards, scored three times in 41-12 win over St. Edward.

Dave Mann, Lincoln Northeast—Produced last minute safety which preserved Rockets' unbeaten mark in 2-0 win over Bellevue.

Joe Glenn, Lincoln Pius X—Excellent leadership, two touchdown passes boosted Thunderbolts past Lincoln High, 32-6.

Bob Hardt, Omaha Westside—Rugged defensive play, fine pass catching sparked Warriors in 19-0 conquest of Creighton Prep.

Rocket Sophomores Lash Links, 33-0

ISU Practices Goal-Line Stands

The offense, meanwhile, worked on passing, topping off the drill of holding an offensive goal-line session.

160-Pounders Leading Big 8

. . . WACHHOLTZ, SHANKLIN

Kansas City, Mo. — This may be the era of the 250-pound muscle men in Big Eight Conference football, but right now a pair of 160-pound "weaklings" aren't getting much sand kicked in their faces.

For openers, take 18 into 238 and you get 13.2. That is what Don Shanklin averaged for Kansas against Arizona every time he wrapped his eager paws around the ball. In addition, the little guy squirted into the end zone twice for the Jayhawks, once on a 69-yard punt return, threw for a third six-pointer, and set up a fourth with a 71-yard run.

Spurting on an equal plane is Nebraska's Larry Wachholtz, the incongruous defensive specialist who put on his offensive clothes long enough to boot a game-changing 39-yard field goal before intercepting a pair of Utah State passes and breaking the game open with a 72-yard punt return for a touchdown.

Earlier, he authored another punt haul for 38 yards to set up the initial Husker scoring sortie and finished the day with a 160-yard tally in seven chances, a 23-yard average—and 10 points. His big punt returning day (five for 133 yards) put him on top in this division and back into the national running for the collegiate title he just missed last year.

Shanklin racked up 104 of his yards in a rushing role—his second straight game over the century mark—to put him at 238 for the year, 50 more than Gale Sayers, who became the all-time Big Eight rushing king, got his first two games for the Jayhawks.

Soph Star Doesn't Awe KSU Coach

Manhattan, Kan. (AP)—Kansas State's Cornelius Davis, a sophomore fullback, is the nation's second leading rusher. But coach Doug Weaver is taking a conservative viewpoint.

"Let's say I'm happy with his progress," Weaver said Tuesday. "But he's got eight tough ones to go."

Davis is a 198-pound speedster who played both end and halfback at St. Louis, Mo., Beaumont High. Weaver said he recruited him as a halfback.

Weaver said he is "not ready to say tailback Ossie Cain will make it for Colorado." Mike Duncan, a sophomore, is still running at the No. 1 tailback post.

The Wildcat secondary is also in a state of flux. "I'm not sure who will start except for Mitch Borota," Weaver said. "Unfortunately, he can't play all three positions."

Bill Nossek, sophomore quarterback, is still hospitalized with what Weaver described as a "seepage of the lung."

Meysenburg Best Prep Performer

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Bench strength, that ingredient which can make or break a football team, paid off in a big way for David City Aquinas coach Joe McNulty last week.

Marty Meysenburg, who supplied most of it, earns Player of the Week honors for his role in helping Aquinas subdue West Point Central Catholic, 33-19.

The 5-10, 155-pound senior came off the bench in the second quarter to spark the Monarchs as they posted their third straight win.

Marty and the following players will receive recognition for their outstanding play last week:

Chuck Compton, Western — Scored four touchdowns, turned in top defensive effort in 52-14 win over Beaver Crossing.

Max Schmitz, Maywood—Passed for 201 yards, played strong defensive game in 13-6 win over Stapleton.

Jim Uchtman, Humphrey—Accounted for 37 of team's points in 67-14 win over Orchard on six touchdowns and an extra point.

Gail Ortegren, Palmer — Ran for two touchdowns, passed for two more and added two interceptions in 34-7 win over Stromsburg.

Merlyn Bates, Juniata — Grabbed three touchdown passes in 39-0 win over Trumbull.

Terry Vrzal, Newman Grove—Rushed for 188 yards, scored three times in 41-12 win over St. Edward.

Dave Mann, Lincoln Northeast—Produced last minute safety which preserved Rockets' unbeaten mark in 2-0 win over Bellevue.

Joe Glenn, Lincoln Pius X—Excellent leadership, two touchdown passes boosted Thunderbolts past Lincoln High, 32-6.

Bob Hardt, Omaha Westside—Rugged defensive play, fine pass catching sparked Warriors in 19-0 conquest of Creighton Prep.

Rocket Sophomores Lash Links, 33-0

Mike Karle scored on 52 and 15-yard runs and a 78-yard pass from Dan Cook to lead the Northeast sophomore football team to a 33-0 victory over Lincoln High on the Rockets' home field Tuesday.

Northeast—Karle (3), 52, 15 runs, 78 pass from Cook; Wilcox, 30 pass from Cook; Frickel, 6 pass from Williams; PAT—Lane (3).

ISU Practices Goal-Line Stands

The offense, meanwhile, worked on passing, topping off the drill of holding an offensive goal-line session.

Clarks, Paxton Ranked 1st In Class D, 8-Man

. . . CLARKS ADDS CLASS C VICTIMS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Clarks and Paxton continue to set the pace in the Class D and eight-man divisions of the Nebraska Prep Ratings.

Seven new teams — Niobrara, Greeley Sacred Heart and Springview in Class D and Humphrey, Wilsonville, Chadron Assumption and Nehawka in eight-man — crack the top ten lists this week.

Clarks, which has given up only one touchdown in three games, made Osceola its second Class C victim last week to reinforce its claim to the top spot in Class D.

Moving up to No. 2 is Clay Center, winner of two straight after losing to Class B Sutton on opening week.

Western power Potter climbs to No. 3 and Class D newcomer Niobrara cracks the top ten at the No. 4 level despite a 1-2 record. The northeastern club dropped a pair of games to Class C foes, then whitewashed Butte, ranked seventh last week, 23-0.

Greeley Sacred Heart, another new face in the division, is No. 5 with its 2-0-1 mark.

Arcadia, Bancroft, Davenport and Chester return to the list at the Nos. 6-9 spots and Springview moves into the No. 10 spot after two straight wins.

With last week's top clubs maintaining their swift early paces the eight-man ratings look much the same at the upper level this week.

Paxton, 48-7 winner over previously unbeaten Big Springs, and Elmwood, 55-6 winner over Prague, continue as the No. 1 and No. 2 teams.

Climbing up to No. 3 this week is Western. The Indians, ranked No. 2 at the close of the 1965 campaign, started the tough middle portion of their schedule last week with a 52-14 rout of unbeaten Beaver Crossing.

Overton, which took a big step toward Fort Kearney Conference honors with a 30-24 win over rugged Pleasanton, is No. 4 and high-flying Indianola is No. 5.

Odell, en route to one of its finest seasons, heads the second division which includes four new teams.

Humphrey, benefitting from a 44-13 win over Creston, grabs the No. 7 spot.

Moving into the No. 8 position is Wilsonville, the highest scoring club in the state. The Wildcats have rolled up 200 points in three starts.

Chadron Assumption, good for 175 points in three outings, is No. 9 and Nehawka takes the No. 10 position. The Nehawka club added to its credentials last week as it stepped into 11-man play to whip respected Johnson, 27-26.

NU Cager Hare Out For Season

Fred Hare, a two-year basketball letterman at the University of Nebraska, will sit out the coming season to give his knee a chance to strengthen.

The 6-1 former Omaha Tech star underwent both knee and elbow surgery last spring. He did not return to school this semester and is working instead for the Lincoln Police Department.

Hare had figured prominently in Husker plans, possibly as a replacement for the graduated Grant Simmons, a star on last year's team which won runnerup honors in the Big Eight Conference.

Clarks, Paxton Ranked 1st In Class D, 8-Man

. . . CLARKS ADDS CLASS C VICTIMS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Clarks and Paxton continue to set the pace in the Class D and eight-man divisions of the Nebraska Prep Ratings.

Seven new teams — Niobrara, Greeley Sacred Heart and Springview in Class D and Humphrey, Wilsonville, Chadron Assumption and Nehawka in eight-man — crack the top ten lists this week.

Clarks, which has given up only one touchdown in three games, made Osceola its second Class C victim last week to reinforce its claim to the top spot in Class D.

Moving up to No. 2 is Clay Center, winner of two straight after losing to Class B Sutton on opening week.

Western power Potter climbs to No. 3 and Class D newcomer Niobrara cracks the top ten at the No. 4 level despite a 1-2 record. The northeastern club dropped a pair of games to Class C foes, then whitewashed Butte, ranked seventh last week, 23-0.

Greeley Sacred Heart, another new face in the division, is No. 5 with its 2-0-1 mark.

Arcadia, Bancroft, Davenport and Chester return to the list at the Nos. 6-9 spots and Springview moves into the No. 10 spot after two straight wins.

With last week's top clubs maintaining their swift early paces the eight-man ratings look much the same at the upper level this week.

Paxton, 48-7 winner over previously unbeaten Big Springs, and Elmwood, 55-6 winner over Prague, continue as the No. 1 and No. 2 teams.

Climbing up to No. 3 this week is Western. The Indians, ranked No. 2 at the close of the 1965 campaign, started the tough middle portion of their schedule last week with a 52-14 rout of unbeaten Beaver Crossing.

Overton, which took a big step toward Fort Kearney Conference honors with a 30-24 win over rugged Pleasanton, is No. 4 and high-flying Indianola is No. 5.

Odell, en route to one of its finest seasons, heads the second division which includes four new teams.

Humphrey, benefitting from a 44-13 win over Creston, grabs the No. 7 spot.

Moving into the No. 8 position is Wilsonville, the highest scoring club in the state. The Wildcats have rolled up 200 points in three starts.

Chadron Assumption, good for 175 points in three outings, is No. 9 and Nehawka takes the No. 10 position. The Nehawka club added to its credentials last week as it stepped into 11-man play to whip respected Johnson, 27-26.

LBJ, German Agree To Defense Review

Washington (AP) — President Johnson and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany agreed Tuesday to hold a strategic review, "a searching fense requirements. reappraisal," of European de-

It would take into account, they said, the balance of payments problems of the United States, Britain and Germany.

The two leaders, in a joint communique on their two days of conferences, agreed that "tension in Europe is less acute, yet a basic threat to security persists and the Atlantic Alliance continues to be the vital condition of peace and freedom."

On Way To Cape

The U.S. and West German leaders worked out the final details of the communique on their flight to Cape Kennedy, Fla., for a 2½-hour tour of the spaceport.

The communique did not spell out when or where the reappraisal would be made.

However, the review, the communique said, should address itself to the question of "equitable sharing of the defense and other comparable burdens" and the impact of troop deployment and force levels on U.S. and British balance of payments.

This cautiously worded statement seems to indicate that the German chancellor accepted the U.S. government's position that changed political and technological circumstances permit a review of the West's military requirements and especially the number of troops stationed in Europe. There have been demands in Congress for cutting down drastically the number of American forces.

Erhard Gives In

The President and the chancellor agreed that it would be desirable to have conversations in which Britain would be invited to participate. This indicated that Erhard gave in to the longstanding Johnson suggestion that a tripartite group should be formed to study the problem of force levels in Europe in connection with the budgetary burden the maintenance of these forces represents.

Erhard was understood to have been cool to the tripartite handling of this issue and preferred bilateral talks with the United States and, separately, with Britain.

The communique also disclosed that the two leaders agreed to set up "direct telephonic communications," between Washington and Bonn, apparently somewhat like the "hot line" between Moscow and Washington.

Johnson: Space Pact Urgent

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson walked with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard among astronauts and rockets Tuesday and warned that the need for a U.S.-Soviet agreement governing the use of space is "most urgent."

Agreements reached at the United Nations fall short of America's desire for a treaty, the U.S. chief executive declared.

"I earnestly hope the Soviet Union—whose space achievements have been great—will feel as we do that the rapid evolution of space technology makes early conclusion of a treaty governing the use of space a most urgent matter," Johnson continued.

He and Erhard agreed that further U.S.German space cooperation is desirable.

During the 2½-hour spaceport tour, the two leaders rode 410 feet up to the top of the moon rocket launch pad and looked over a giant Saturn 5.

Erhard was greatly interested in the rocket's size. It is 365 feet tall and on launch day will weigh more than 6,000 tons.

HHH To Dems: 'Get Off Your Fat Seats Of Complacency'

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey stumped for Democratic Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown in a California Republican stronghold Tuesday, warning Democrats to "get off your fat seats of complacency."

Brown, in a tight race with Republican Ronald Reagan, appeared with the vice president at an airport rally. Then they toured an ocean research center where they fed squid to a whale and a porpoise.

Humphrey even put his hand in the mouth of the five-foot-long pilot whale named "Baby Jean," and tickled her palate.

"They like that," Humphrey said.

The trip wound up Humphrey's three-day visit to California. His next stop was Portland, Ore.

Brown and Humphrey even pitched for votes when they were briefed on scientific achievements of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography. The two men toasted each other with glasses of desalinated sea water.

"To your victory, Pat. May it be as deep and as wide as the depths of the ocean," said Humphrey.

Hossack: Road Improvement To Be Limited

Cozad (UPI) — State Engineer John Hossack said Tuesday rising costs and static revenues will keep Nebraska's road improvement program to a minimum during the next biennium.

Speaking to a dedication banquet on the completion of 14 miles of paving on Neb. 21 between Cozad and Eustis, Hossack said the Roads Department improvement requests outstrip its ability to pay.

He said during the first six months of 1966 there was a sharp upward trend on costs for all construction materials.

However, he added, the state's income from vehicle registration and user fees stayed about the same.

"One thing I can say about the next program—it will provide improvements on only a very small fraction of those requested throughout the state," he said.

Hossack also said the 11-mile segment of Interstate 80 between Henderson and York and the westbound Interstate lane between Milford and York could be opened by the middle of next month, weather permitting.

He said by year's end, 312 miles of the four-lane superhighway should be opened. This represents 65% of the Nebraska Interstate mileage

HHH To Dems: 'Get Off Your Fat Seats Of Complacency'

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey stumped for Democratic Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown in a California Republican stronghold Tuesday, warning Democrats to "get off your fat seats of complacency."

Brown, in a tight race with Republican Ronald Reagan, appeared with the vice president at an airport rally. Then they toured an ocean research center where they fed squid to a whale and a porpoise.

Humphrey even put his hand in the mouth of the five-foot-long pilot whale named "Baby Jean," and tickled her palate.

"They like that," Humphrey said.

The trip wound up Humphrey's three-day visit to California. His next stop was Portland, Ore.

Brown and Humphrey even pitched for votes when they were briefed on scientific achievements of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography. The two men toasted each other with glasses of desalinated sea water.

"To your victory, Pat. May it be as deep and as wide as the depths of the ocean," said Humphrey.

Hossack: Road Improvement To Be Limite

Cozad (UPI) — State Engineer John Hossack said Tuesday rising costs and static revenues will keep Nebraska's road improvement program to a minimum during the next biennium.

Speaking to a dedication banquet on the completion of 14 miles of paving on Neb. 21 between Cozad and Eustis, Hossack said the Roads Department improvement requests outstrip its ability to pay.

He said during the first six months of 1966 there was a sharp upward trend on costs for all construction materials.

However, he added, the state's income from vehicle registration and user fees stayed about the same.

"One thing I can say about the next program—it will provide improvements on only a very small fraction of those requested throughout the state," he said.

Hossack also said the 11-mile segment of Interstate 80 between Henderson and York and the westbound Interstate lane between Milford and York could be opened by the middle of next month, weather permitting.

He said by year's end, 312 miles of the four-lane superhighway should be open

This represents 65% of t

Gemini 12 Spacewalk Plans Revamped; Back Pack Is Out

Space Center, Houston, (UPI) — The space agency Tuesday drastically revamped its plans for Gemini 12 astronaut Edwin (Buz) Aldrin's walk in space later this year.

Informed sources said the switch could delay the Gemini 12 flight, now set for late October or early November, by as much as two weeks.

The space agency said plans for Aldrin to use a jet-powered Buck Rogers-type "back pack" to scoot around in space during his space walk had been scrapped.

To Allow Study

The announcement said the change was made to allow a better study of the problem of free spacewalking—an exhausting chore which caused Gemini 11 astronaut Richard F. Gordon to cut his space walk short Sept. 13.

Officials said they wanted to "gather more information concerning the performance of basic tasks by an astronaut in orbit outside a spacecraft."

Spacewalking so far has turned out to be one of the knottiest problems of the U.S. manned space program Three of America's four spacewalkers have been forced to get back into the spaceship before their walks were finished.

The back pack, built to Air Force specifications by Ling-Temco-Vought in Dallas, is a silvery box about the size of a small suitcase.

It has its own stabilizing gyroscope and a system of maneuvering jets, and is controlled by the astronaut through buttons mounted in two arm rests that jut forward at his waist.

The official announcement made no mention of a change in the launch date but informed sources said it would probably "slip" at least one week and possibly two.

U.S. Offers Foreigners Rocket Room

. . . For Experiments

Washington (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday it has invited foreign scientists to submit space experiments to be carried aboard U.S. manned spacecraft as well as in unmanned vehicles.

But the agency said Administrator James E. Webb, in announcing this, did not mean to give the impression that the scientists might go into orbit in a U.S. spacecraft any time in the foreseeable future.

For the present, a spokesman said, NASA is thinking in terms of making room on Project Apollo spacecraft for experiments designed and built by scientists from other countries

At a ceremony honoring the Gemini 11 astronauts, Webb said President Johnson had discussed with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard here this week the possibility of placing a German scientific experiment aboard the first manned Apollo spacecraft carrying a solar telescope.

In conferring NASA's second highest award, the Exceptional Service Medal, in astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr., Webb announced that during a recent visit to Europe he had been authorized to offer room on U.S. manned spacecraft for experiments submitted by the Germans.

He said this offer applies also to scientists of Britain and other nations with the technical qualifications required. The program would represent an extension of that under which, for several years, NASA has welcomed useful foreign experiments aboard its unmanned spacecraft.

Bauer Is Elected By Meat Cutters

Fremont (AP) — The Nebraska State Branch of the Meat Cutters Unions named Albert Bauer of Lincoln president Tuesday. The meat cutters met in conjunction with the state AFL-CIO convention.

Other officers chosen were: W. E. Mays, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer; Harold Hettinger, Scottsbluff, first vice-president, Bruce Peters, Fremont, second vice president; Robert Thompson, Omaha, third vice president; Dal Lane, Nebraska City, fourth vice president and Ken Cernik, Fremont, fifth vice president.

Police Arrest Teenage Cyclist After Accident

A 19-year-old youth driving on a suspended license was arrested after being chased by police Tuesday night when he wrecked his motorcycle near 4th and A.

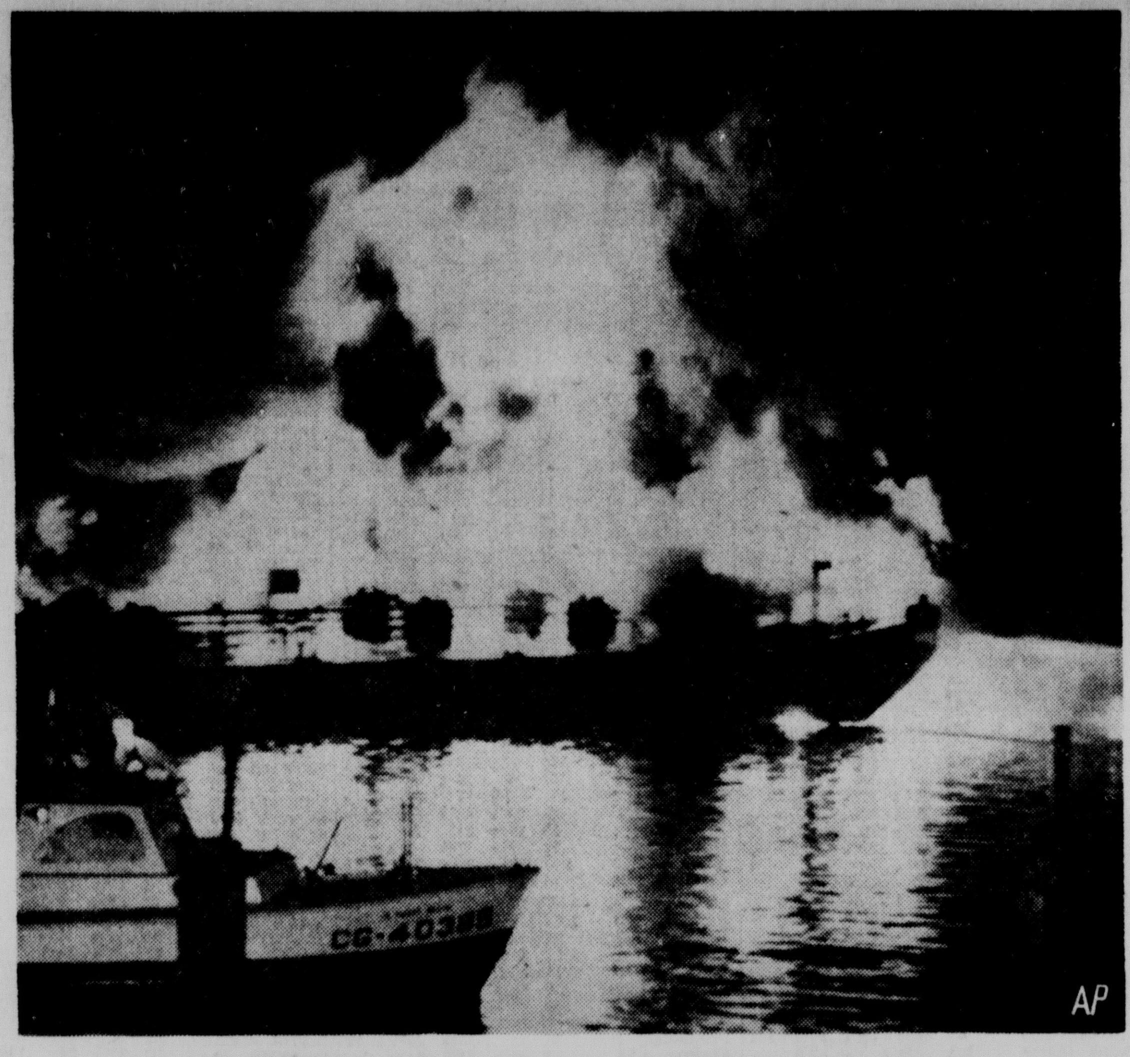
Police said the youth received minor injuries in the wreck. He was treated at a hospital and then booked into the Lincoln city jail.

Motorcycle officer Douglas Ahlberg pursued the youth on rough gravel roads until the youth upset his cycle while trying to jump the railroad tracks near 4th and A.

Delmar Lange County Agent

David City—Delmar Lange will assume the duties of Butler County Extension Agent on October 1, succeeding Frank Morse.

Lange is the holder of bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Nebraska. He has served as assistant county agent for Custer and Saunders counties for three years and as County Agent for one semester.



RUPTURED BARGE BURNS IN BAY

Flames surround the bow of a Standard Oil gasoline barge in a flareup after an earlier blast and fire subsided. Six deaths and several injuries were reported. The barge is nosed into the landing area at Bethlehem Steel Co. on San Francisco's bay waterfront where it arrived after suffering an underwater gash that ruptured one of the fuel tanks. A Coast Guard patrol boat is at lower left.

Income Tax Refunds Awaiting Many

The Internal Revenue Service Tuesday released the names of Lincoln taxpayers who overpaid their federal income taxes during the past 12 months, but who have not received their refund checks due to changed addresses, or incomplete return addresses.

If your name appears in the published lists, you should contact the District Director of Internal Revenue, Federal Office Building, 15th and Dodge Streets, Omaha, ZIP 68102, and establish your identity and right to receive the check.

Social Security cards alone will not establish identity. It is not necessary to consult or engage the services of a "locating" or "searching" service, or anyone else, to obtain information with respect to your check. Merely contact the IRS at Omaha, IRS officials state.

CBS In $52.8 Million Deal For 63 Movies

New York (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System has completed negotiations with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to pay $52.8 million for the television rights to 63 motion pictures, it was learned Tuesday night.

The deal, which is expected to be approved formally at an MGM board meeting later this week, includes 45 features, most made during the past six years, and including "Sandpiper," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "The Yellow Rolls Royce" plus 18 features to be made for preliminary theatrical distribution.

CBS spokesmen would neither confirm nor deny the acquisition, but a network executive said, "Motion picture prices are skyrocketing and are so popular with audiences that we're just making sure we've got a good supply so we can show movies twice a week for the next few years."

The executive noted that another network is also negotiating to acquire a stockpile of features, and observed that with the exception of the output of one big film company, the supply of Hollywood features practically has been exhausted.

Currently all three major networks broadcast feature films in prime evening time, a total of 10 hours weekly. ABC broadcasts movies one night a week, CBS and NBC two nights each. ABC recently paid $2 million for rights to broadcast "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

U.S. To Start All Over In Murder Of Rights Trio

Meridian, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department will back up and start over again in its case against 18 men accused of conspiring in the murder of three civil rights workers.

The department filed an eight-page memorandum in federal court Tuesday asking that charges be dismissed. It said the case will be placed before a new grand jury as soon as possible.

The memorandum agreed with a defense motion, argued last week, that the 1965 grand jury which indicted the men was improperly drawn—under standards set by an appeals court last July.

The 18 were charged with conspiring to injure, threaten and intimidate the civil rights workers—slain in 1964 near Philadelphia, Miss., in what the FBI called a "Ku Klux Klan execution."

Defendants include sheriff Lawrence Rainey of Neshoba County and his deputy, Cecil Price.

State charges were never filed in the case.

"This does not mean that the case is closed," the Justice Department memorandum said. "The case will be taken before a legally constituted grand jury as soon as possible."

The indictments were returned Jan. 15, 1965, in the slaying of Michael Henry Schwerner, James Earl Chaney and Andrew Goodman.

Luna 2 Studies Gamma, X-Rays

Moscow (AP) — The official Soviet news agency Tass reported Tuesday that the unmanned Soviet spaceship Luna 2, put into orbit around the moon Aug. 28, is studying gamma and X-rays emitted from the Lunar surface "to determine its chemical composition more exactly."

This appeared consistent with the Soviet program of collecting information about the moon's surface in preparation for sending men there.

The Tass announcement also reported that Luna 2 is taking measurements of the moon's gravitational field and that special devices have been put on board to study meteoric streams in this part of the cosmos.

Mercenaries' Use In Angola Denied

Lisbon, Portugal (AP) — Foreign Minister Franco Nogueira asserted Tuesday that Portugal harbors no mercenaries in Angola and invited U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to come and see for himself.

"Perhaps the Congolese assaulted our embassy in Kinshasa to get documents to prove we had mercenaries in Angola," Nogueria told a press conference. "But in whatever they stole, they will find no trace of anything."

The Congo has called a U.N. Security Council meeting to press charges that Portugal has mercenaries in Angola training to overthrow its government.

Portugal does not use mercenaries of any nationality but the Congo uses many of many nationalities, Nogueira said.

Morrison Raps Curtis' Aide's 'Deal' Charges

Omaha (AP) — Gov. Frank Morrison declared Tuesday that "never in any of my campaigns have I ever made a deal."

He commented on a statement made earlier in the day by Richard Smith, chairman of the re-election campaign committee of Sen. Carl T. Curtis. Morrison is running for the seat now held by Curtis.

Smith had asked that Morrison "make public the details of the deal he made to win the all-out support of organized labor's strong-arm political machine."

"Sen. Curtis has made a false and completely untrue statement," Morrison declared and challenged Curtis to submit evidence to prove his statement.

For his own part, Morrison said, "If I'm not telling the truth, I'll withdraw."

The governor said the integrity of the candidates has become a major issue in the campaign.

Morrison said he has received no pledge of support from organized labor. But he added:

"I invite the endorsement of the AFL-CIO or any other group if they think I am qualified."

The governor declared he has received more contributions from business than from labor.

Smith, in his statement, said that at the state AFL-CIO convention in Fremont national organizers for the Committee on Political Education met with state organizers and the governor.

"When they finished their session at the political bargaining table, somebody had turned a flip-flop—somebody had sold out," Smith said.

Similarities Pointed Out By Connally

Omaha (AP) — A Texan conceded Tuesday that his state shares some good things with Nebraska.

The Texan - Gov. John Connally - said he came to the Cornhusker state to talk about the similarity in the approach to a variety of problems between the governments of the two states.

Tourism, outdoor recreation, government reorganization and mental health are among the areas in which both his administration in Texas and that of Gov. Frank Morrison and Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen in Nebraska have been active, he said.

At a news conference the Texas governor was asked the views of his administration on the programs of the Great Society and what the Johnson Administration's programs have done for the state.

"I don't necessarily admit that anybody has done anything for Texas but me," Connally joked.

He added that Texas has used its own resources as a starting point in any field, but "we have not been the least reluctant to take advantage of the Great Society program."

Connally, who was wounded at the same time President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, was asked about recent challenges to the Warren Report.

"There is room for speculation in some aspects of it," he said. "You can't prove with finality every single facet."

But he said he accepted the report in general.

"I would not argue with the findings" of the commission which drafted it, he declared.

Gov. and Mrs. Connally planned to spend the night at the governor's mansion in Lincoln before returning to Texas.

Peru Enrollment Is Up Slightly

Peru — Full-time enrollment at Peru State College for the first semester of the 1966-67 academic year is up slightly over a year ago with an equally small decrease in part-time enrollment for a first semester total of 1,040 compared to 1,043 last year.

No increase over a year ago was expected due to a lack of dormitory space, according to President Neal S. Gomon. The housing pinch should be eased next fall as a 350-bed co-educational dormitory is now under construction and is scheduled for completion in mid-August, 1967.

Three hundred seventy-six freshmen are enrolled for Peru State's 100th year of service to state and nation.

Gemini 12 Spacewalk Plans Revamped; Back Pack Is Out

Space Center, Houston, (UPI) — The space agency Tuesday drastically revamped its plans for Gemini 12 astronaut Edwin (Buz) Aldrin's walk in space later this year.

Informed sources said the switch could delay the Gemini 12 flight, now set for late October or early November, by as much as two weeks.

The space agency said plans for Aldrin to use a jet-powered Buck Rogers-type "back pack" to scoot around in space during his space walk had been scrapped.

To Allow Study

The announcement said the change was made to allow a better study of the problem of free spacewalking—an exhausting chore which caused Gemini 11 astronaut Richard F. Gordon to cut his space walk short Sept. 13.

Officials said they wanted to "gather more information concerning the performance of basic tasks by an astronaut in orbit outside a spacecraft."

Spacewalking so far has turned out to be one of the knottiest problems of the U.S. manned space program Three of America's four spacewalkers have been forced to get back into the spaceship before their walks were finished.

The back pack, built to Air Force specifications by Ling-Temco-Vought in Dallas, is a silvery box about the size of a small suitcase.

It has its own stabilizing gyroscope and a system of maneuvering jets, and is controlled by the astronaut through buttons mounted in two arm rests that jut forward at his waist.

The official announcement made no mention of a change in the launch date but informed sources said it would probably "slip" at least one week and possibly two.

Deputy Sheriff's Hiring Approved

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved the hiring of Edwin Kringel as a deputy sheriff at a starting salary of $430 per month.

Kringel, 40, of 5400 Lexington, was a member of the Lincoln Police Department for about 14 years prior to leaving the department about a year ago.

U.S. Offers Foreigners Rocket Room

. . . For Experiments

Washington (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday it has invited foreign scientists to submit space experiments to be carried aboard U.S. manned spacecraft as well as in unmanned vehicles.

But the agency said Administrator James E. Webb, in announcing this, did not mean to give the impression that the scientists might go into orbit in a U.S. spacecraft any time in the foreseeable future.

For the present, a spokesman said, NASA is thinking in terms of making room on Project Apollo spacecraft for experiments designed and built by scientists from other countries

At a ceremony honoring the Gemini 11 astronauts, Webb said President Johnson had discussed with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard here this week the possibility of placing a German scientific experiment aboard the first manned Apollo spacecraft carrying a solar telescope.

In conferring NASA's second highest award, the Exceptional Service Medal, in astronauts Charles Conrad Jr. and Richard F. Gordon Jr., Webb announced that during a recent visit to Europe he had been authorized to offer room on U.S. manned spacecraft for experiments submitted by the Germans.

He said this offer applies also to scientists of Britain and other nations with the technical qualifications required. The program would represent an extension of that under which, for several years, NASA has welcomed useful foreign experiments aboard its unmanned spacecraft.

CBS In $52.8 Million Deal For 63 Movies

New York (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System has completed negotiations with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to pay $52.8 million for the television rights to 63 motion pictures, it was learned Tuesday night.

The deal, which is expected to be approved formally at an MGM board meeting later this week, includes 45 features, most made during the past six years, and including "Sandpiper," "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "The Yellow Rolls Royce" plus 18 features to be made for preliminary theatrical distribution.

CBS spokesmen would neither confirm nor deny the acquisition, but a network executive said, "Motion picture prices are skyrocketing and are so popular with audiences that we're just making sure we've got a good supply so we can show movies twice a week for the next few years."

The executive noted that another network is also negotiating to acquire a stockpile of features, and observed that with the exception of the output of one big film company, the supply of Hollywood features practically has been exhausted.

Currently all three major networks broadcast feature films in prime evening time, a total of 10 hours weekly. ABC broadcasts movies one night a week, CBS and NBC two nights each. ABC recently paid $2 million for rights to broadcast "The Bridge on the River Kwai."

U.S. To Start All Over In Murder Of Rights Trio

Meridian, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department will back up and start over again in its case against 18 men accused of conspiring in the murder of three civil rights workers.

The department filed an eight-page memorandum in federal court Tuesday asking that charges be dismissed. It said the case will be placed before a new grand jury as soon as possible.

The memorandum agreed with a defense motion, argued last week, that the 1965 grand jury which indicted the men was improperly drawn—under standards set by an appeals court last July.

The 18 were charged with conspiring to injure, threaten and intimidate the civil rights workers—slain in 1964 near Philadelphia, Miss., in what the FBI called a "Ku Klux Klan execution."

Defendants include sheriff Lawrence Rainey of Neshoba County and his deputy, Cecil Price.

State charges were never filed in the case.

"This does not mean that the case is closed," the Justice Department memorandum said. "The case will be taken before a legally constituted grand jury as soon as possible."

The indictments were returned Jan. 15, 1965, in the slaying of Michael Henry Schwerner, James Earl Chaney and Andrew Goodman.

Luna 2 Studies Gamma, X-Rays

Moscow (AP) — The official Soviet news agency Tass reported Tuesday that the unmanned Soviet spaceship Luna 2, put into orbit around the moon Aug. 28, is studying gamma and X-rays emitted from the Lunar surface "to determine its chemical composition more exactly."

This appeared consistent with the Soviet program of collecting information about the moon's surface in preparation for sending men there.

The Tass announcement also reported that Luna 2 is taking measurements of the moon's gravitational field and that special devices have been put on board to study meteoric streams in this part of the cosmos.

Mercenaries' Use In Angola Denied

Lisbon, Portugal (AP) — Foreign Minister Franco Nogueira asserted Tuesday that Portugal harbors no mercenaries in Angola and invited U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to come and see for himself.

"Perhaps the Congolese assaulted our embassy in Kinshasa to get documents to prove we had mercenaries in Angola," Nogueria told a press conference. "But in whatever they stole, they will find no trace of anything."

The Congo has called a U.N. Security Council meeting to press charges that Portugal has mercenaries in Angola training to overthrow its government.

Portugal does not use mercenaries of any nationality but the Congo uses many of many nationalitiles, Nogueira said.

Morrison Raps Curtis' Aide's 'Deal' Charges

Omaha (AP) — Gov. Frank Morrison declared Tuesday that "never in any of my campaigns have I ever made a deal."

He commented on a statement made earlier in the day by Richard Smith, chairman of the re-election campaign committee of Sen. Carl T. Curtis. Morrison is running for the seat now held by Curtis.

Smith had asked that Morrison "make public the details of the deal he made to win the all-out support of organized labor's strong-arm political machine."

"Sen. Curtis has made a false and completely untrue statement," Morrison declared and challenged Curtis to submit evidence to prove his statement.

For his own part, Morrison said, "If I'm not telling the truth, I'll withdraw."

The governor said the integrity of the candidates has become a major issue in the campaign.

Morrison said he has received no pledge of support from organized labor. But he added:

"I invite the endorsement of the AFL-CIO or any other group if they think I am qualified."

The governor declared he has received more contributions from business than from labor.

Smith, in his statement, said that at the state AFL-CIO convention in Fremont national organizers for the Committee on Political Education met with state organizers and the governor.

"When they finished their session at the political bargaining table, somebody had turned a flip-flop—somebody had sold out," Smith said.

Similarities Pointed Out By Connally

Omaha (AP) — A Texan conceded Tuesday that his state shares some good things with Nebraska.

The Texan - Gov. John Connally - said he came to the Cornhusker state to talk about the similarity in the approach to a variety of problems between the governments of the two states.

Tourism, outdoor recreation, government reorganization and mental health are among the areas in which both his administration in Texas and that of Gov. Frank Morrison and Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen in Nebraska have been active, he said.

At a news conference the Texas governor was asked the views of his administration on the programs of the Great Society and what the Johnson Administration's programs have done for the state.

"I don't necessarily admit that anybody has done anything for Texas but me," Connally joked.

He added that Texas has used its own resources as a starting point in any field, but "we have not been the least reluctant to take advantage of the Great Society program."

Connally, who was wounded at the same time President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, was asked about recent challenges to the Warren Report.

"There is room for speculation in some aspects of it," he said. "You can't prove with finality every single facet."

But he said he accepted the report in general.

"I would not argue with the findings" of the commission which drafted it, he declared.

Gov. and Mrs. Connally planned to spend the night at the governor's mansion in Lincoln before returning to Texas.

Curtis, Nebraska Man Electrocuted At Missile Site

Conrad, Mont. (AP) — Donald V. Conboy, 30, of Curtis, Neb., was electrocuted Tuesday in an accident at a Minuteman missile launch silo.

Conboy was drilling holes in concrete at the time, but Pondera County Coroner Patrick E. Wyse said details of the accident were not known.

The accident occurred at a missile site three miles south of Conrad. He was employed by Morrison-Knudsen Construction Co., prime contractor for 50 missile sites now being built as an addition to 150 sites completed about two years ago.

Conboy, who had lived in Conrad about four months, is survived by his widow, Patricia, and two children, aged 3 and 2.

Peru Enrollment Is Up Slightly

Peru — Full-time enrollment at Peru State College for the first semester of the 1966-67 academic year is up slightly over a year ago with an equally small decrease in part-time enrollment for a first semester total of 1,040 compared to 1,043 last year.

No increase over a year ago was expected due to a lack of dormitory space, according to President Neal S. Gomon. The housing pinch should be eased next fall as a 350-bed co-educational dormitory is now under construction and is scheduled for completion in mid-August, 1967.

Three hundred seventy-six freshmen are enrolled for Peru State's 100th year of service to state and nation.

Stock Mart Ends With Small Gain

New York (AP)—The stock market produced a small gain Tuesday, saving only a portion of an advance which started out substantially. Trading was moderately active.

Volume was 6.31 million shares compared with 4.97 million Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a gain of 1.39 at 794.09 but at the end of the first hour it was up as much as 7.24.

The weakness of one stock Du Pont, had a lot to do with the progressively duller performance of blue chips. Du Pont, softening throughout the day, ended with a loss of 6¼ at 160¼.

Other high-quality issues were affected sympathetically, to a greater or lesser extent.

A similar disservice was performed for the glamor stocks by Motorola. Motorola fell 19 points to 119.

A published account of Motorola's chairman's appearance before the New York Society of Security Analysts presented Wall Street with lower estimates of Motorola's earnings than have been current among analysts.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, 5 advanced and Laboratory for Nine of the 15 most-active stocks Electronics was unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 4 to 286.0 with industrial up .1, rails up .6 and utilities up .3.

Of 1,378 issues traded, 646 rose and 508 fell. There were 10 highs for the year and 71 lows.

Fairchild Camera fell 5⅜, Magnavox 1½, Polaroid 2⅜, Douglas Aircraft 4⅛, Zenith 1½ and Eastman Kodak 2¼.

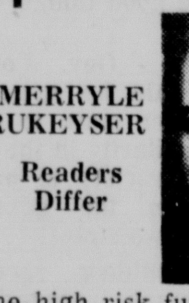
Merck, Jersey Standard, General Electric, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad were among the gainers.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Readers' Questions Reveal Disparity In Expectations

By Merryle S. Rukeyser



MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Readers Differ

Despite the stock market pyrotechnics since the historic peak in average industrial prices was reached last February, there is still a search for fool's gold.

My own mailbag from readers shows a wide disparity in expectations. While the naive still press for a tip on the market disguised in terms of academic verbiage about long term prospects for growth, the more mature investors are aware of the nature of investment risks.

In the latter category, a reader in McLean, Va., who is interested in professionally managed funds, such as mutual funds, closed end investment companies, and common trust funds, writes: "I am perfectly willing to take a reasonable — i.e., carefully calculated — amount of risk, any my eyes will be open."

On the other hand, others wistfully seek some one who will hold their hands and tell them dogmatically how to get rich. Thus, a bridegroom in Cliffside Park, N.J. submits a list of his stocks, asks for recommended changes, and inquires: "What should I sell and what should I buy in its place in order to get maximum growth."

In a similar vein, a correspondent from Yale University asks for investment funds which "you believe will most reliably yield 9 to 10% per year over the long term."

Informed Guess

At best, the competent security analyst, working for the account and risk of his client, can do no better than make an informed guess concerning the developments of the future.

Obviously, it is unreasonable to expect a return of 9 to 10% from dividends and interest held in the portfolio of a professionally managed fund. The funds which achieved such results or better in the two decades of high level prosperity following World War II supplemented dividend and interest income with substantial capital gains.

A reader inquires about a set of criteria which an investor can use to compare the performance of the various funds with the same professed objectives.

Here are a few practical suggestions:

1. At the library of a bank or investment company, consult a standard fund manual such as Wiesenberger's Investment Companies," which discloses the objectives of leading funds and which gives a record of their past performance.

2. Success in the past is a good indication, even though the alert investor recognizes the importance of keeping in touch with future developments. Old managers die and retire, and the effectiveness of their replacements needs to be tested. Furthermore, the ability of men and operating principles to succeed in a different environment must be observed—not taken for granted.

Reputation Important

3. It is important to know the reputation of the sponsors. You can get such a check through your bank, which in turn, through its correspondent bank in a financial center or through specialized services such as Bishop's, can get a report on the prestige of the fund operators. Local Better Business Bureaus can be helpful in informing inquirers whether financiers are reputable.

4. The state dogmas in a prospectus are not necessarily conclusive. By way of illustration, in the first half of this abnormal year, some of the high risk funds paradoxically did better in increasing capital than some of the more conservative balanced funds.

5. In choosing funds, it may be desirable to select two or three funds and thus diversify your risks. Another protective device would be to employ the technique of "dollar averaging," that is, to deposit precisely the same sums periodically — monthly, quarterly or annually — in exactly the same securities.

2. An Osterville, Mass. reader asks about quotations on no load funds and closed end funds. He adds: "I agree with you that when you mention them to a broker, they change the subject."

A. The latter observation shoul be limited to "no load" funds. Brokers and dealers make nothing out of handling them. They can be acquired at net asset value directly from the sponsors. "No load" funds are not a special category, but are identical to other "open end" mutual funds except that there is no entrance fee.

Brokers can make a commission on closed end investment shares, a number of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The latter, together with the discounts or premiums, as the case may be, at which they sell, are quoted Mondays in the Wall Street Journal.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquires from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)'

Bumper Beet Crop Sighted

Scottsbluff (AP)— A bumper beet crop is in prospect for the North Platte Valley.

"The weight and sugar content were found to be excellent," said Leonard Henderson, manager of the Scottsbluff and Gering districts of Great Western Sugar Company, following a random sampling of sugar beet fields.

"At this point the crop compares very favorably with the 1963 crop, which was the best we have ever had," he added.

He forecast a crop of at least 20 tons per acre and said if ideal weather continues it might go a ton or two higher.

Grains Mostly Easy To Weak

Chicago (AP) — Grain futures prices ran broadly both ways Tuesday but the pressure was on at the finish and most commodities finished in an easy to weak range.

Wheat closed almost 4 cents off its highs of the day, corn about 2 cents and soybeans around 3 cents in spots. However, the latter still held gains of a cent or so on final transactions.

A flurry of active speculative buying carried all prices up substantially during the first half hour but demand lagged then and profit cashing began to seep through the trade.

Wheat closed ⅞-1⅜ cents a bushel lower, December $1.78½-78; corn ⅛-⅝ lower, December $1.38¼-⅜; oats ⅛-⅝ lower, December 74⅛-74 cents; rye ¾ to 3 cents lower, December $1.24¼; soybeans 1 to 1⅜ higher, November $2.96⅝-¾.

Federal Agencies To Participate In Local Drive

Federal agencies in Lincoln will participate in this fall's Lincoln United Fund appeal through a combined federal campaign covering local agencies under the United Fund, 10 national health agencies and 4 international agencies.

Albert H. Sonntag, director of the St. Louis Region of the Civil Service Commission, announced the plan following a meeting with the heads of federal agencies and representatives of federal employees.

Under the plan federal employees will be able to contribute through a payroll withholding plan which will eliminate separate drives for the health and international agencies. Lincoln is the first city in Nebraska to adopt such a plan for federal employees.

Omaha Schools Study Religious Education Plan

Omaha (AP)—Supt. Paul Miller said he hopes the Omaha School District will be able to start a program of religious education within a year.

The plan would be based upon teaching how religion has helped shape the world and America's heritage.

Dr. Miller said a committee of local religious leaders formed two years ago has now been expanded to include about 15 religious leaders, 15 teachers and 15 staff members and he hopes the committee will have a plan to present to the board of education by spring. It would be for all grade levels.

He said the problem has been finding a program which does not offend the fundamentalist, atheist or anyone else and still make it a "good" program.

Area Feeder Day Dates Announced

Dates have been scheduled for four area Feeders Days sponsored by the University of Nebraska in 1967. These locations and dates were announced by Paul Guyer, NU Extension livestock specialist: Wisner—February 21; Beatrice—Feb. 22; North Platte—Feb. 23; and Scottsbluff —March 7.

Stock Mart Ends With Small Gain

New York (AP)—The stock market produced a small gain Tuesday, saving only a portion of an advance which started out substantially. Trading was moderately active.

Volume was 6.31 million shares compared with 4.97 million Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a gain of 1.39 at 794.09 but at the end of the first hour it was up as much as 7.24.

The weakness of one stock Du Pont, had a lot to do with the progressively duller performance of blue chips. Du Pont, softening throughout the day, ended with a loss of 6¼ at 160¼.

Other high-quality issues were affected sympathetically, to a greater or lesser extent.

A similar disservice was performed for the glamor stocks by Motorola. Motorola fell 19 points to 119.

A published account of Motorola's chairman's appearance before the New York Society of Security Analysts presented Wall Street with lower estimates of Motorola's earnings than have been current among analysts.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks declined, 5 advanced and Laboratory for Nine of the 15 most-active stocks Electronics was unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .4 to 286.0 with industrial up .1, rails up .6 and utilities up .3.

Of 1,378 issues traded, 646 rose and 508 fell. There were 10 highs for the year and 71 lows.

Fairchild Camera fell 5⅜, Magnavox 1½, Polaroid 2⅞, Douglas Aircraft 4⅛, Zenith 1¼ and Eastman Kodak 2¼.

Merck, Jersey Standard, General Electric, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad were among the gainers.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Readers' Questions Reveal Disparity In Expectations

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Despite the stock market pyrotechnics since the historic peak in average industrial prices was reached last February, there is still a search for fool's gold.

My own mailbag from readers shows a wide disparity in expectations. While the naive still press for a tip on the market disguised in terms of academic verbiage about long term prospects for growth, the more mature investors are aware of the nature of investment risks.

In the latter category, a reader in McLean, Va., who is interested in professionally managed funds, such as mutual funds, closed end investment companies, and common trust funds, writes: "I am perfectly willing to take a reasonable — i.e., carefully calculated — amount of risk, any my eyes will be open."

On the other hand, others wistfully seek some one who will hold their hands and tell them dogmatically how to get rich. Thus, a bridegroom in Cliffside Park, N.J. submits a list of his stocks, asks for recommended changes, and inquires: "What should I sell and what should I buy in its place in order to get maximum growth."

In a similar vein, a correspondent from Yale University asks for investment funds which "you believe will most reliably yield 9 to 10% per year over the long term."

Informed Guess

At best, the competent security analyst, working for the account and risk of his client, can do no better than make an informed guess concerning the developments of the future.

Obviously, it is unreasonable to expect a return of 9 to 10% from dividends and interest held in the portfolio of a professinally managed fund. The funds which achieved such results or better in the two decades of high level prosperity following World War II supplemented dividend and interest income with substantial capital gains.

A reader inquires about a set of criteria which an investor can use to compare the performance of the various funds with the same professed objectives.

Here are a few practical suggestions:

1. At the library of a bank or investment company, consult a standard fund manual such as Wiesenberger's Investment Companies," which discloses the objectives of leading funds and which gives a record of their past performance.

2. Success in the past is a good indication, even though the alert investor recognizes the importance of keeping in touch with future developments. Old managers die and retire, and the effectiveness of their replacements needs to be tested. Furthermore, the ability of men and operating principles to succeed in a different environment must be observed—not taken for granted.

Reputation Important

3. It is important to know the reputation of the sponsors. You can get such a check through your bank, which in turn, through its correspondent bank in a financial center or through specialized services such as Bishop's, can get a report on the prestige of the fund operators. Local Better Business Bureaus can be helpful in informing inquirers whether financiers are reputable.

4. The state dogmas in a prospectus are not necessarily conclusive. By way of illustration, in the first half of this abnormal year, some of the high risk funds paradoxically did better in increasing capital than some of the more conservative balanced funds.

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Readers Differ

5. In choosing funds, it may be desirable to select two or three funds and thus diversify your risks. Another protective device would be to employ the technique of "dollar averaging," that is, to deposit precisely the same sums periodically — monthly, quarterly or annually — in exactly the same securities.

2. An Osterville, Mass. reader asks about quotations on no load funds and closed end funds. He adds: "I agree with you that when you mention them to a broker, they change the subject."

A. The latter observation shoul be limited to "no load" funds. Brokers and dealers make nothing out of handling them. They can be acquired at net asset value directly from the sponsors. "No load" funds are not a special category, but are identical to other "open end" mutual funds except that there is no entrance fee.

Brokers can make a commission on closed end investment shares, a number of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The latter, together with the discounts or premiums, as the case may be, at which they sell, are quoted Mondays in the Wall Street Journal.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquires from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Bumper Beet Crop Sighted

Scottsbluff (AP)— A bumper beet crop is in prospect for the North Platte Valley.

"The weight and sugar content were found to be excellent," said Leonard Henderson, manager of the Scottsbluff and Gering districts of Great Western Sugar Company, following a random sampling of sugar beet fields.

"At this point the crop compares very favorably with the 1963 crop, which was the best we have ever had," he added.

He forecast a crop of at least 20 tons per acre and said if ideal weather continues it might go a ton or two higher.

Grains Mostly Easy To Weak

Chicago (AP) — Grain futu[res] prices ran broadly both wa[ys] Tuesday but the pressure w[as] on at the finish and m[ost] commodities finished in [the] easy to weak range.

Wheat closed almost 4 ce[nts] off its highs of the day, c[orn] about 2 cents and soybe[ans] around 3 cents in spots. Ho[w]ever, the latter still h[eld] gains of a cent or so on fi[nal] transactions.

A flurry of active specu[la]tive buying carried all pric[es] up substantially during [the] first half hour but dema[nd] lagged then and profit ca[sh]ing began to seep through [the] trade.

Wheat closed ⅞-1⅞ cents a bushel [low]er, December $1.78⅛-78; corn ⅛-⅝ lo[wer], December $1.38¼-⅜; oats ⅛-⅝ lower, [De]cember 74⅛-74 cents; rye ¾ to 3 [...] lower, December $1.24½; soybeans [...] 1⅛ higher, November $2.96⅝-¾.

Federal Agencies To Participate In Local Drive

Federal agencies in Linco[ln] will participate in this fall Lincoln United Fund appe[al] through a combined feder[al] campaign covering loca[l] agencies under the Unit[ed] Fund, 10 national healt[h] agencies and 4 internation[al] agencies.

Albert H. Sonntag, direct[or] of the St. Louis Region of th[e] Civil Service Commissio[n] announced the plan followin[g] a meeting with the heads [of] federal agencies and repr[e]sentatives of federal employ[]ees.

Under the plan federal em[]ployees will be able to con[]tribute through a payroll wit[h]holding plan which will elim[i]nate separate drives fo[r] the health and internationa[l] agencies. Lincoln is the firs[t] city in Nebraska to adop[t] such a plan for federal em[]ployees.

Omaha Schools Study Religious Education Plan

Omaha (AP)—Supt. Paul Mi[l]ler said he hopes the Omah[a] School District will be abl[e] to start a program of relig[]ious education within a year.

The plan would be base[d] upon teaching how religio[n] has helped shape the worl[d] and America's heritage.

Dr. Miller said a committe[e] of local religious leader[s] formed two years ago ha[s] now been expanded to includ[e] about 15 religious leaders, 1[...] teachers and 15 staff mem[]bers and he hopes the com[]mittee will have a plan t[o] present to the board of ed[]ucation by spring. It woul[d] be for all grade levels.

He said the problem ha[s] been finding a program whic[h] does not offend the fundamen[]talist, atheist or anyone els[e] and still make it a "good" program.

Hurricane Batters Rum-Perfume Isles

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez swept across the tropic islands of Guadeloupe Tuesday and roared into the Caribbean where she began threatening the Virgin Isalnds and Puerto Rico with her furious, 120 mile-an-hour winds.

Slashing rains, howling winds and pounding surf battered the rum-and-perfume isles of Guadeloupe where 295,000 persons live. Residents took refuge in schools, concrete shelters and the coastal hills which failed to break up the storm as was hoped earlier in the day.

The first winds of hurricane force began lashing the islands at noon. Roughly half the size of Rhode Island, Guadeloupe is world-known as a bargain spot for French perfumes, wines and potent local rums. Columbus allegedly landed there in 1493 after discovering the American continent.

Communications were interrupted. There was no immediate word of the damage to Guadeloupe's vast sugar and coffee plantations which were virtually wiped out by Hurricane Cleo in 1964. Cleo also left 14 persons dead on the islands.

Highest winds recorded were 80 miles per hour and peek winds probably were higher.

Nearby Antigua, a British colony with a population of about 63,000, and site of a U.S. missile tracking station, was scraped by the powerful winds.

Pan American World Airways canceled flights to the Leeward Islands.

Cleo, which later raked the entire eastern coast of Florida inflicting millions of dollars of damage, churned through Guadeloupe Aug. 22, 1964, wiping out many sugar and coffee plantations and leaving wide areas without power for weeks. in addition to the dead, 40 persons were injured. Cleo's peak winds were clocked at 81 m.p.h.

Meanwhile Tuesday, another potential storm popped up far out in the Atlantic. Weather satellite pictures showed evidence of an easterly wave 1,000 miles east of Trinidad near the coast of Venezuela.

These bands of bad weather sometimes develop into tropical storms.

Valerie Percy Possibly Went Outside Mansion

Kenilworth, Ill. (AP) — The chief investigator of the Valerie Percy slaying said Tuesday she may have left the Percy mansion after dining with her family and friends on the eve of her death but, he believes, she did not leave the grounds.

Police Chief Robert M. Daley said Charles H. Percy, Republican nominee for U.S. senator and father of the 21-year-old victim, and other members of his family will be asked additional questions about the case when they return to Kenilworth, probably in a few days.

Daley said a rusty knife with a three to four-inch blade was found Tuesday on a bluff overlooking a public beach next to the Percys' private beach.

Unlikely

He said he did not think it likely that the knife was used to stab Valerie because he believed her wounds were made by a longer blade. However, the knife was sent to the Chicago police crime laboratory to be studied.

Meanwhile, Scott Cohen, Percy's public relations director, said he probably would resume his campaign sometime in October.

Valerie was fatally beaten and knifed Sept. 8.

More Questions

All members of the Percy family and the two men who dined at their home Sept. 17 have been questioned, but Daley said his staff has built up a file of additional questions to be asked when the Percys return.

The two young men, members of Percy's campaign staff, took lie detector tests at their own request, the chief said.

The tests showed that neither had any undisclosed knowledge about the slaying.

Batchelder Has New Blast For U Of N Budget

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Clifton B. Batchelder let loose a new blast at the University of Nebraska budget requests Tuesday.

He said the University's proposal to increase its tax support 91% is equivalent to more than $40 for every person in this state. He said other departments are preparing to make heavy financial demands and it adds up to an "unbearable" tax load.

The Omaha legislator declared he is convinced "that we not only cannot afford spending as much as we are but there is no such necessity."

He declared the university is "powerful politically and the ambition of the chancellor and the board of regents . . . is to create a big business for the city of Lincoln . . . and satisfy their own egos."

A fire of undetermined origin broke out in the R. H. Cuddeford home at 1130 Fairfield Tuesday morning.

Hurricane Batters Rum-Perfume Isles

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez swept across the tropic islands of Guadeloupe Tuesday and roared into the Caribbean where she began threatening the Virgin Isalnds and Puerto Rico with her furious, 120 mile-an-hour winds.

Slashing rains, howling winds and pounding surf battered the rum-and-perfume isles of Guadeloupe where 295,000 persons live. Residents took refuge in schools, concrete shelters and the coastal hills which failed to break up the storm as was hoped earlier in the day.

The first winds of hurricane force began lashing the islands at noon. Roughly half the size of Rhode Island, Guadeloupe is world-known as a bargain spot for French perfumes, wines and potent local rums. Columbus allegedly landed there in 1493 after discovering the American continent.

Communications were interrupted. There was no immediate word of the damage to Guadeloupe's vast sugar and coffee plantations which were virtually wiped out by Hurricane Cleo in 1964. Cleo also left 14 persons dead on the islands.

Highest winds recorded were 80 miles per hour and peek winds probably were higher.

Pan American World Airways canceled flights to the Leeward Islands.

Cleo, which later raked the entire eastern coast of Florida inflicting millions of dollars of damage, churned through Guadeloupe Aug. 22, 1964, wiping out many sugar and coffee plantations and leaving wide areas without power for weeks. in addition to the dead, 40 persons were injured. Cleo's peak winds were clocked at 81 m.p.h.

Meanwhile Tuesday, another potential storm popped up far out in the Atlantic. Weather satellite pictures showed evidence of an easterly wave 1,000 miles east of Trinidad near the coast of Venezuela.

These bands of bad weather sometimes develop into tropical storms.

Valerie Percy Possibly Went Outside Mansion

Kenilworth, Ill. (AP) — The chief investigator of the Valerie Percy slaying said Tuesday she may have left the Percy mansion after dining with her family and friends on the eve of her death but, he believes, she did not leave the grounds.

Police Chief Robert M. Daley said Charles H. Percy, Republican nominee for U.S. senator and father of the 21-year-old victim, and other members of his family will be asked additional questions about the case when they return to Kenilworth, probably in a few days.

Daley said a rusty knife with a three to four-inch blade was found Tuesday on a bluff overlooking a public beach next to the Percys' private beach.

Unlikely

He said he did not think it likely that the knife was used to stab Valerie because he believed her wounds were made by a longer blade. However, the knife was sent to the Chicago police crime laboratory to be studied.

Meanwhile, Scott Cohen, Percy's public relations director, said he probably would resume his campaign sometime in October.

Valerie was fatally beaten and knifed Sept. 8.

More Questions

All members of the Percy family and the two men who dined at their home Sept. 17 have been questioned, but Daley said his staff has built up a file of additional questions to be asked when the Percys return.

The two young men, members of Percy's campaign staff, took lie detector tests at their own request, the chief said.

The tests showed that neither had any undisclosed knowledge about the slaying.

Batchelder Has New Blast For U Of N Budget

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. Clifton B. Batchelder let loose a new blast at the University of Nebraska budget requests Tuesday.

He said the University's proposal to increase its tax support 91% is equivalent to more than $40 for every person in this state. He said other departments are preparing to make heavy financial demands and it adds up to an "unbearable" tax load.

The Omaha legislator declared he is convinced "that we not only cannot afford spending as much as we are but there is no such necessity."

He declared the university is "powerful politically and the ambition of the chancellor and the board of regents . . . is to create a big business for the city of Lincoln . . . and satisfy their own egos."

Cuddeford Home Is Considerably Damaged By Fire

A fire of undetermined origin broke out in the R. H. Cuddeford home at 1130 Fairfield Tuesday morning.

HOW

IN THE WORLD could anyone do better for $10,900 if they need a clean cut 4 bedroom home in the Hartley-Sacred Heart Area, than 325 North 34th? Razor sharp remodeling and good housekeeping encourages us to encourage you TO LOOK TODAY.

I AM

HAROLD PROCTOR writing these ads and sincerely mean to sell every one of them soon! Construction costs are rising rapidly. Potential home buyers who are sulking in the background of todays market place and believe themselves wise in waiting, will be PAYING MORE MONEY FOR HOUSING IN THE YEARS AHEAD! UNLESS they know of cheaper lots than we do, UNLESS they know of contractors who want to work for nothing; UNLESS they know where building materials can be buoght for less, THEY HAD BETTER PICK UP one of these quality properties while this SO CALLED SLUMP is on! INCREASED INTEREST RATES WERE IMPOSED AS A DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO STOP INFLATION. It has not stopped inflation. Everything is higher. CARS are higher, GROCERIES are HIGHER. CLOTHING is HIGHER. Homes will be much HIGHER VERY SOON. Lincoln has ABSORBED TREMENDOUS shock waves in the housing field, but they will soon be compensated for. The trade unions now have BONAFIDE CONTRACTS FOR SEVERAL YEARS AHEAD AT ANNUALLY INCREASED RATES. LAND for homesites IS NOT GETTING CHEAPER. How can anyone tell me they can afford to rent, and move, and rent and wait? Sure taxes are higher and EVERY LIVING SOUL WHO PREFERS TO LIVE INDOORS will pay his share DIRECTLY or INDIRECTLY THROUGH HIS LANDLORD.

HAROLD PROCTOR

is a long time PROFESSIONAL APPRAISER and REALTOR in Lincoln. His money is invested in LINCOLN REAL ESTATE He plans to stay in Lincoln because HE LIKES IT HERE BETTER THAN ANYWHERE ELSE ON EARTH! COME BUY A HOME WITH me or one of my sales force. We deal HONESTLY IN QUALITY merchandise and believe in selling you LOCATION as well as house. We have an acreage or two, we have a farm or two. We have been doing a nice volume of business ALL YEAR. New fresh listings are coming in every day. Come be our friend and satisfied Customer! 477-7734, 33rd & "O". 30c

HOW

IN THE WORLD could anyone do better for $10,900 if they need a clean cut 4 bedroom home in the Hartley-Sacred Heart Area, than 325 North 34th? Razor sharp remodeling and good housekeeping encourages us to encourage you TO LOOK TODAY.

I AM

HAROLD PROCTOR writing these ads and sincerely mean to sell every one of them soon! Construction costs are rising rapidly. Potential home buyers who are sulking in the background of todays market place and believe themselves wise in waiting, will be PAYING MORE MONEY FOR HOUSING IN THE YEARS AHEAD! UNLESS they know of cheaper lots than we do, UNLESS they know of contractors who want to work for nothing: UNLESS they know where building materials can be bought for less, THEY HAD BETTER PICK UP one of these quality properties while this SO CALLED SLUMP is on! INCREASED INTEREST RATES WERE IMPOSED AS A DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO STOP INFLATION. It has not stopped inflation. Everything is higher. CARS are higher. GROCERIES are HIGHER. CLOTHING is HIGHER. Homes will be much HIGHER VERY SOON. Lincoln has ABSORBED TREMENDOUS shock waves in the housing field, but they will soon be compensated for. The trade unions now have BONAFIDE CONTRACTS FOR SEVERAL YEARS AHEAD AT ANNUALLY INCREASED RATES. LAND for homesites IS NOT GETTING CHEAPER. How can anyone tell me they can afford to rent, and move, and rent and wait? Sure taxes are higher and EVERY LIVING SOUL WHO PREFERS TO LIVE INDOORS will pay his share DIRECTLY or INDIRECTLY THROUGH HIS LANDLORD.

HAROLD PROCTOR

is a long time PROFESSIONAL APPRAISER and REALTOR in Lincoln. His money is invested in LINCOLN REAL ESTATE. He plans to stay in Lincoln because HE LIKES IT HERE BETTER THAN ANYWHERE ELSE ON EARTH! COME BUY A HOME WITH me or one of my sales force. We deal HONESTLY IN QUALITY merchandise and believe in selling you LOCATION as well as house. We have an acreage or two, we have a farm or two. We have been doing a nice volume of business ALL YEAR. New fresh listings are coming in every day. Come be our friend and satisfied Customer! 477-7734, 33rd & "O". 30c

Danes Want In Market

Strasbourg, France (AP) — Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag of Denmark said Tuesday his country wants to become a full-fledged member of the Common Market.

"But it is absolutely clear," he said, "that under present conditions, the Danish government does not want to act alone in adhering to the European Economic Community," composed of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Krag made the remarks during a news conference after addressing the Council of Europe Consultative Assembly.

He said in his address to the council that the Scandinavian countries could decide during the February 1967 session of the Nordic Council to take the initiative.

Any initiative decided upon by the Nordic Council would be accompanied by an appeal to Britain and France to resume Common Market entry negotiations, halted in January 1963 by a French veto.

GE Accused Of Light Bulb Price-Fixing

New York (AP)—General Electric Co. was accused in a federal court antitrust suit Tuesday of fixing prices on light bulbs through agency agreements with distributors and retailers.

GE's agency system twice before has been challenged, and in 1926 the Supreme Court upheld its legality.

In filing the new suit, the Justice Department expressed the opinion that the earlier cases were decided erroneously.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the suit challenged a series of agency agreements between GE and its distributors and retailers and asked for a permanent injunction against such agreements.

In 1963, the suit said, GE's light bulb sales were more than $173 million, or about 50% of the industry total. Of this, it said, the sale under agency agreements exceeded $135 million.

As a result of the agreement, the suit said, prices of GE light bulbs have been maintained at artifcially high levels, price competition has been restrained, and the distributors and retailers have been prevented from selling at prices and terms of their own choice.

In New York, GE vice president and general counsel Robert M. Estes commented, "General Electric remains convinced that this business practice is not only legal but that it has served the public well.

Ticket Leads To Broken Leg For York Reporter

York (AP) — Mrs. Fern Rose, 62, a member of the York News - Times editorial staff, was injured in an unusual accident.

Mrs. Rose said she halted her car to retrieve a parking meter violation ticket from under the windshield wiper, and as she stepped from the car she shifted the automatic transmission into reverse instead of into the parking position.

She was knocked down by the car and the front wheel ran over both her legs. One leg was fractured.

The car rolled backward across the street, sideswiped a pole and came to rest against a tree in a school yard.
